A FRENCH STORY.

THE KAISER CHARGED WITH BEING WILDLY DRUNK RECENTLY.

He Strikes Lieut. Schroeder, Who Commits Suicide.

PLACARDS POSTED AT FOO CHOO THREATENING THE FOREIGNERS.

Mission Buildings Attacked and Some of the Inmates Killed—The Very Chilly Treatment of the Prince of Naples by the Princess Maud of Wales—King Alexander of Servia in Russia—Sailed for Chili—Foreign News.

PARIS, Aug. 1.—Several papers publish an alleged telegram from Berlin stating that the Kaiser was wildly drunk during his cruise on the Hohenzollern; that he was thrown down by a sailor and thus hurt his leg; that he struck Lieut. Schroeder, who at once blew his brains out because of the disgrace; that he speeded the yacht at night, having all the guns fired and changing his uniforms, donning those of the German, English and Italian Admirals, and that he is succumbing to the morphine habit.

RIOTING IN CHINA.

PLACARDS PASTED AT FOO CHOO THREATENING THE FOREIGNERS.

LONDON, Aug. 1.—Dispatches received here from Foo Choo, China, state that rioting is imminent at that place and the town is totally unprotected. Placards upon which are notices threatening foreigners have been posted in the public thoroughfares. It is reported that the mission building at Yen Ping, Province of Fo Kien, on the Min River, ninety miles northwest of Foo Choo, and at Foo Ning, in the same province, seventy miles northeast of Foo Choo, have been attacked by a Chinese mob. It is also said that some of the inmates of the mission buildings have been killed.

AN OUTRAGE ON CHINESE.

CELESTIALS AT VALLEJO, CAL., MOBBED BY THE CITIZENS.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Aug. 1.—An outrage on Chinese recently occurred at Vallejo, which probably will lead to a demand for indemnity from the Chinese Government. A short time ago a lot of Vallejo Chinese came to the Consulate here and declared they were living in fear of their lives, as the regular authorities refused to protect them. Trouble began on the night of July 4, when a crowd gathered about the Chinese quarters at Vallejo and pelted the celestials with stones. Recently a fire was started and a Chinese girl was burned to death. Warrants for eight men were issued. The Vallejo authorities claim there is no legal proof against any of the accused, but the Chinese story is told with so much detail, that Gov. Markham has been requested by the State Department to investigate the matter.

VERY CHILLING TREATMENT.

THE PRINCE OF NAPLES SNUBBED BY AN ENGLISH PRINCESS.

LONDON, Aug. 1.—It is said the Prince of Naples has been badly snubbed by the Princess Maud of Wales, to whom he took the opportunity of his visit to England to make advances. Maud is rather the prettiest of the Prince's three daughters and has sweet and engaging manners. Her meeting with the Prince, however, was the first time that she had been brought nearer than a mere introduction to the Italian and her emphatic way of repelling his polite approaches is said to have been amusing to the select party present on the occasion. The Prince evidently felt it deeply. It was not the first time he has been snubbed by the royal Teutons. About a year ago he went courting the young Princess Marguerite of Prussia, sister of the Kaiser. The Kaiser himself was not unwilling, but Marguerite evinced from the first a repugnance for the youth, and would have nothing to do with him. She was sustained by her mother, the Empress Frederick, who is devoted to Marguerite. Where the Italian will get his next snub is as yet uncertain, but the indications are that he will have to seek a wife among the royalties of Southern Europe. The North has given him a very chilling treatment.

IRISH WARRING FACTIONS.

THE "FREEMAN'S JOURNAL" RENEWS ITS APPEAL—E. DWYER GRAY.

DUBLIN, Aug. 1.—The Freeman's Journal to-day renews its appeal to the warring factions of the Irish Parliamentary party to find some means of promptly effecting a reconciliation "without ruthlessly throwing to the wolves a man whose leadership brought the cause to the threshold of success."

The National Press (McCarthyite) intimates that there is a divergency of opinion among the directors of the Freeman's Journal Publishing Co. as to the policy pursued by the Freeman's Journal. Mr. E. Dwyer Gray, it is understood, is now a thorough anti-Parnellite, and he is supposed to need his hands strengthened in the work he has recently undertaken on behalf of the great majority of the Irish Parliamentary party.

DOMINION DOINGS.

REV. EMIL GROUARD CONSECRATED VICAR APOSTOLIC—A NEW BRIDGE COMPANY.

WINNIPEG, Manitoba, Aug. 1.—This morning Right Rev. Emil Grouard was consecrated Vicar Apostolic of the Athabasca River and McKenzie River District at St. Boniface Cathedral by His Grace Archbishop Tachereau assisted by their Lordships Rt. Rev. Bishop Grandin of St. Albert, Northwest Territory, and Rt. Rev. Bishop Shanley of Jamestown, N. D. The ceremony was imposing and was attended by prominent members of the Catholic clergy from all parts of Canada and from Minnesota and the Dakotas. It is the first time such a celebration was ever held in this country.

BRIDGE COMPANY INCORPORATED.

OTTAWA, Ontario, Aug. 1.—Among the bills assented to yesterday by the Deputy Governor, Sir Wm. Ritchie, were an act to incorporate the Ontario & New York Bridge Co. and an act to incorporate the Buffalo & Fort Erie Bridge Co.

ALEXANDER OF SERVIA.

THE RUSSIANS MAKING A GOOD DEAL OF THE BOY RULER.

ST. PETERSBURG, Aug. 1.—King Alexander of Servia arrived at Kieff, Russia, on Wedneday and was received on the frontier of the Government of Moscow by the Grand Duke Sergius. On his arrival in Moscow, a grand dinner was given in the Kremlin and he visited the French and Asiatic exhibitions. He will be in Peterhoff to-morrow. The Czar and Grand Dukes will meet the sore-eyed youth at the railway station and drive with him to the imperial palace, where the Czarina and the Grand Duchesses will receive him. The Russians are making a good deal of the boy as they desire to retain the friendship of Servia, which would be very useful in the event of war. The boy King is being treated with as much ceremony and more cordiality than the German Kaiser on the occasion of his visit to Russia. There is a possibility that the young King may take back to Belgrade the promise of the hand of a Russian Grand Duchess, the promise to be fulfilled, of course, when he comes of age. The consent of the lady herself would have very little to do with the matter, both because the Czar would have his way, and because Russian Princesses generally have their way after marriage.

THE ISLAND OF SPITZBERGEN.

PRINCE VON URACH AND COMPANIONS ON A SCIENTIFIC EXPEDITION.

BERLIN, Aug. 1.—The Prince Von Urach has started with Count Seepelin, Prof. Bauer and others, in the steamer Amelia, on a scientific expedition to explore the island of Spitzbergen. The Prince is a nobleman of Wurtemburg, with a strong inclination for science, and a proportionate dislike for the ball-room and the court. The expedition proposes to make as thorough an exploration of the island as the weather will permit, with a view, should it be practicable, of establishing a permanent station there.

BRITISH TOPICS.

A STRUGGLE BETWEEN COLLIERS AND WEALTHY NOBLEMEN—BOARDS OF GUARDIANS.

LONDON, Aug. 1.—A struggle is going on between the colliers of Derbyshire and the wealthy noblemen who own estates in that vicinity. The colliers claim a right to hunt the hare and rabbit in the preserves for consumption, and the noblemen are determined to prevent them. A number of colliers are now awaiting trial on the charge of poaching and attacking the game-keepers in force when poaching was interfered with. In one battle, on the Duke of Devonshire's estate, three game-keepers were put hors de combat and had to be carried home. The practice of poaching is becoming more and more prevalent in the country districts.

THE HOLIDAY EXODUS.

The Goodwood races and the ministerial banquet have sounded the death knell of the London season and next week the holiday exodus will be in full swing.

A NEWSPAPER QUARREL.

The failure to produce De Lara's "Light of Asia" at the Royal Italian Opera (Covent Garden) in spite of the preparations which were made for it, has led to a pretty newspaper quarrel between Maurel, the tenor, who was to have sung the leading part, and De Lara, the composer of the music of this new opera.

A THEATER MANAGER KNIGHTED.

Augustus Harris, who recently so successfully provided a gala entertainment at Covent Garden, was knighted yesterday by Queen Victoria at Windsor Castle. Sir Augustus has re-engaged for next season most of the artists who made such a splendid showing at the Royal Italian Opera during the past season. The re-engaged artistes include Miss Emma Eames (or rather, Mrs. Story), who won further laurels by superseding Mme. Albani as Desdemona in "Otello."

AN INTERESTING EVENT.

An interesting theatrical event has been set down for the end of the present month. It is the English debut of David Christie Murray, the well-known author, as an actor. Mr. Murray will make his first appearance on the boards before a London audience at the Globe Theater in a play written by himself.

THE AMERICAN COPYRIGHT LAW.

The publishing world of this country is occupied in completing the new arrangements which have become necessary by the enactment of the American copyright law. Consequently there are but few new books announced. Interest, however, is taken in Charles Godfrey Leland's translation of Heine's poems from the German, the first volume of which is already published and in the promised publication in the autumn, of a book of short stories by Hamlin Garlan of Boston, Mass.

IRISH EMIGRANTS.

The various boards of guardians throughout Ireland have been notified not to go counter to the amended American emigration law by assisting to emigrate to the United States any pauper or any person likely to become a public charge. Such assistance is frequently asked for and has often been granted, some times in meritorious cases and occasionally to get rid of chronic and worthless mendicants.

FRANCE AND RUSSIA.

ST. PETERSBURG, Aug. 1.—The Czar has conferred the Grand Cordon of the Order of St. Anne upon Admiral Gervais of the French squadron and has bestowed decorations upon thirty-two officers of the French fleet.

THE PORTSMOUTH VISIT.

LONDON, Aug. 1.—The French Government will send a special steamer to convey M. Waddington, the French Ambassador here, to Spithead to view the French fleet. The Mayor of Portsmouth has received a cordial letter from M. Barbey, the French Minister of Marine, officially informing him that the French squadron will arrive on Aug. 19. Admiral Gervais will dine with the Queen at Osborne House on Aug. 20.

GENERAL FOREIGN.

A BLOODY BATTLE WITH AFRICANS—GAMBLING PROHIBITED IN SPAIN.

LONDON, Aug. 1.—Dispatches received here from Zanzibar state that the tribe of Somalis, which recently made a treacherous attack on Athale, an Italian coast station in Southeast Africa, situated in about latitude 3 deg. north, was repulsed after a sharp struggle during which thirty men were killed on either side.

GAMBLING PROHIBITED.

MADRID, Aug. 1.—The Government has prohibited gambling in the Casinos, at the watering places in the north of Spain. The local papers say that the Casinos will close as a protest against the prohibition.

THE AMERICAN TREATY.

The Official Gazette to-day publishes a decree promulgating the new treaty between the United States and Spain in regard to trade between the United States and Cuba and Porto Rico.

HOTEL BURNED.

PARIS, Aug. 1.—The Hotel des Alpes at Chamouni has been burned. A large number of tourists were staying there, but escaped.

THE BANK OF ROME.

ROME, Aug. 1.—There is considerable alarm in Rome over rumors of the impending closing of the Bank of Rome. The bank is an old Catholic institution and it is said that Pope Leo has advanced 2,000,000 francs and thus averted the threatened disaster.

FOREIGN NEWS IN BRIEF.

Mr. Gladstone seems th have recovered his usual state of health and he is sitting to Milleas for some alterations which are being made in his jubilee portrait.

Justice Chitty to-day made a winding up order in the case of the English Bank of the River Plate, whose suspension was recently announced.

A dispatch from Vichy states that Dom Pedro, the ex-Emperor of Brazil, has suffered a relapse and that he is again confined to his bed.

Mr. Balfour announces that the training college bill would be postponed until the next session.

Senhor Carvalho, the Minister of Finance has issued a decree giving legal currency to francs imported into the State and prohibiting the exportation of all silver coin.

THE TRUE STORY.

Inside Facts About the Recent Melinite Conspiracy in France.

EFFORTS TO SELL THE SECRET EXPLOSIVE TO OTHER COUNTRIES.

M. Tripon's Bargain With M. Turpin, the Inventor—Too Small a Sum Paid Him by the French Government—A Fatal Dispute—Trial and Conviction of the Conspirators.

PARIS, Aug., 1.—The fact that some disclosures of a startling nature have been made in regard to the sale of quantities of France's secret explosive (melinite) and that a number of persons have been sentenced to terms of imprisoment for participation in the conspiracy, has already been cabled to America. But the true history of this dangerous conspiracy has only just been made public. All the testimony in the case, it will be remembered, was taken in secret and MM. Turpin, Tripon and Fassler were sentenced to five years' imprisonment and M. Feuvrier was condemned to two years' confinement in prison. The court also confiscated all the arms and machinery found at the residences of Turpin and Tripon and ordered his pamphlet, "How the Melinite Was Sold," to be destroyed. The prisoners appealed against the verdict, but the Court of Appeals affirmed the decision of the lower court. This much is known. The truth about this extraordinary affair is as follows: Turpin and Tripon, in addition to selling the secret melinite to agents of foreign governments, also tried to sell, not only to English houses but Englishmen representing, as is well known, the governments of Germany and Italy, some most important documents belonging to the French Ministry of War, and particularly some valuable documents relating to the management of the French artillery. But these documents, a most inaccurate and incomplete list of which was published in Turpin's pamphlet, according to the military authorities, had no longer (when Tripon tried to sell them) the same value they had some time previously. They consisted, roughly speaking, in a resume of the experiments made with melinite at Malmaison and of the effects produced by a shell loaded with melinite. There was also document analyzing melinite and giving a description of a patent detonator invented by Turpin, but which, as it was afterwards shown, was rejected by the Artillery Board, as it was not a description of the famous detonator of Bourges. There were other and more important documents, it is admitted, for sale by the two chief conspirators.

INVENTOR TURPIN.

Turpin is not, as has been erroneously stated, the inventor of melinite; he is simply the inventor of the method of manufacturing the acid which is the main factor in the composition of melinite. For years back, however, Turpin had been experimenting with high explosives and was confident that his invention would, sooner or later, come to the front in spite of the fact that he had repeatedly failed, both in French and in foreign countries, to obtain recognition. He wanted the sum of 2,000,000 francs as the price of his new acid, but the French Government, at first, refused to listen to his explanations. In 1884 and in 1885 Turpin was begging the French Government to believe that he had invented the most powerful explosive in existence or dreamed of. At this same period Tripon, Turpin's future accomplice, was a secret agent of the Ministry of War, and the trial has revealed the fact that the French Government has a great many of these secret agents circulating and operating in various parts of the world. Tripon, who was also connected with an English gun firm, had managed to make himself useful to the French Ministry of War, and it was in his capacity as a secret agent of the Government that he managed to obtain access to the French War Office. Thus it was that Tripon managed to get into places where even his rank in the Territorial Army (he was a Captain in the Seventh Regiment of Artillery) would not have obtained him admission. Consequently Tripon circulated at will about the War Office and became acquainted with all the clerks and chiefs of bureaus. Turpin, the inventor, on the other hand, had never been able to penetrate into the War Office any further than the ante-rooms, but while waiting there in the hope of getting an interview with different officials he had seen Tripon going in and out of the Ministry of War in a manner which seemed to indicate that he owned the entire building.

ALL-POWERFUL TRIPON.

Consequently Turpin resolved to become acquainted with this all-powerful person in order to get the latter interested in his explosive inventions. The two men soon became friends and associates, and finally fell out with the result already known. In the meanwhile Turpin had entered into negotiations with Gen. Ladvocat, who represented the Minister of War, and after a great deal of dickering sold the use of his acid invention to the French Government for 200,000 francs cash down, which sum was eventually paid into his hands. But this was not the fortune Turpin had dreamed of, and, hoping to make more money, he turned his attention toward foreign countries. He was not aware, however, that since 1888 five secret agents of the Governments of England and of Germany have been shadowed by the French police and that the five have finally been drawn into a trap. To two of these "agents" the French Minister of War caused to be sold, for an enormous price, a product which (while it was supposed to be melinite) had, in reality, no analogy to that secret explosive; the three other agents, who were in the habit of taking their meals in the restaurants of the Rue de Bourgogne and of the Boulevard Saint Germain, which are frequented by officers of the general staff, were purely and simply expelled from France; and their respective Governments never protested and not a word was heard about it in the public press.

THE FATAL DISPUTE.

But their expulsion placed the European governments and others upon their guard, and Tripon was unable to sell Turpin's secret acid to English houses. Hence the disputes between the two, the mutual reproaches, and finally Turpin's denunciation of his former friend, Tripon, charging him with the sale of the War Office documents, and the latter's retort that Turpin had attempted to sell the secret of melinite. The whole affair disclosed a most curious state of affairs among the governments of Europe. It showed that hosts of spies are at work on all sides and that Germany is not alone in having her bureau of secret information. Of course, there is much of this story which is a secret, kept with the greatest care by the secret tribunal which tried the men now undergoing their sentences; but the above is about as near the truth concerning this great military secret trial as anything which will ever be known outside of the secret records of the French War Office. The fact that the accused men were sentenced and that the Court of Appeals has confirmed the sentences shows that the charges made by each man against the other were, in the main, correct.

PIASA BLUFF.

Proceedings of the Fifth Annual Chautauqua Assembly.

PIASA BLUFF, Aug. 1.—The fifth annual assembly of the Western Chautauqua opened its gates to the public Thursday with a very healthy prospect of this season's series of meetings being the most interesting ever held in this picturesque little valley. The management has taken special pains to make the grounds as attractive as possible and in a great measure their efforts have been crowned with flattering success. Improvements on a large scale have been made during the preceding spring, neither time nor money being spared to carry out the association's aims. Beautiful walks and carriage ways, flanked by rows of growing maples, traverse the velvety grass-covered grounds in every direction, while on either side the snow-white tents of the campers stand out in bold relief against a background of nature's brightest colors. A living spring of sparkling water gushes forth from the foot of the mountain and ripples over the stones until it loses itself in the bosom of the Mississippi. A finely appointed and commodious hotel has just been completed, and is now ready for the accommodation of the public. The association has secured the services of Mrs. H. T. Tucker of Clifton Heights, Mo., to act as caterer. As usual, a programme for the first day is omitted in order to give the tenters time to get settled; however, the officials gathered together in the amphitheater Thursday and spent a pleasant hour talking over the future prospects of the assembly, in which Rev. St. James Fry of St. Louis, Rev. J. W. Phillips of Cairo, Ill., Rev. Scarritt and Wm. Armstrong of Alton took part.

Besides the scores of tents there are several pretty little cottages erected in different parts of the grounds, the most unique of these being that of Wm. Allen of Grafton, Ill. It is a correct representation of the log cabin of the primitive days when lumber was considered a luxury. Among others who own cottages are J. A. Field of St. Louis, Rev. Scarritt of Alton and N. Fletcher Gillham of Jersey County. The programme for to-day embraces a number of attractive features.

PROVIDENCE'S FOUR HUNDRED

Shocked by the Revelations in the Tibbetts Divorce Case.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Aug. 1.—Two of the most beautiful women in Providence figure prominently in a sensational divorce case, which was heard with closed doors yesterday by Judge Wilbur, Mrs. Ella Augusta Tibbetts is the libelant and Miss Belle Shaw, the co-respondent. Forest F. Tibbetts, the libelee, is one of the merchant princes of Providence. All the parties concerned move in the highest society, and Miss Shaw has been conceded to be the queen of society. The revelation made when the suit was announced was a great shock to the local "four hundred." Mr. Tibbetts left his wife about a year ago, and, according to her charges, which were not denied in court, has been living since then with Miss Shaw in palatial quarters. His wife was provided with equally expensive surroundings, but the husband spent all his time in Miss Shaw's company. Miss Shaw is more youthful than Mrs. Tibbetts, but the latter is a remarkably handsome woman. Divorce cases seldom produce two such singularly beautiful women. Each has been known in Providence for a long time. Tibbitts made no defense and the case was tried yesterday, and his wife will undoubtedly secure her divorce, inasmuch as her charge of infidelity was backed by plenty of evidence.

THE SWISS CONFEDERATION.

Commemoration of the Sixth Centennial of Its Establishment.

BERNE, Aug. 1.—The commemoration of the sixth centennial of the establishment of the Swiss Confederation is being gayly observed by the people of the different cantons. Dispatches from Geneva report that a general outcoming of the population to do honor to the occasion has occurred there, and that the same is very generally true of the entire country. In this city, the seat of the government, the most elaborate preparations had been made to make the day a memorable one. The street decorations and the ornamentations of the buildings are particularly profuse and well chosen. Over the Government offices the red-and-white flag of the confederation is, of course, conspicuous. Private demonstrators, however, add to the flag of their country, those of France, Russia or Italy, as they variously incline in sympathy. The streets are filled with bands of music, marching sharpshooters, turner societies and benevolent associations, all hurrying to the place of rendezvous for the great parade. There is no display of soldiery about the city, the police being entirely competent to handle the good natured multitude of Switzers from all sides of the Alps.

A BIG MOVEMENT.

The Deportation of Southern Negroes to Liberia.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 1.—A movement of considerable magnitude is now on foot to arrange for the deportation of the negroes of the Southern States to Liberia. Capt. John Murray and Mr. W. B. Lewis, representing Elder, Dempster & Co. of Liverpool, owners of an important line of steamships, have been at Chamberlin's for some days in consultation with Mr. Benjamin Gaston, the agent of the Liberian Emigration Co. The negotiations between them have been carried to a successful point, and an agreement has been reached whereby a fleet will be at the disposal of the colored people. Ships will sail at frequent intervals from Southern ports direct to the African coast, and it is believed that the first contingent will be ready to start out inside of two months. One of the company's vessels is now at Baltimore. Capt Murray talks enthusiastically of the good to accrue to the negroes by immigration to Liberia.

SAILED FOR CHILI.

The New Balmaceda War Vessel Leaves Lisbon All Right.

LISBON, Aug. 1.—The new Balmacedan war vessel Presidente Errazuriz sailed for Chili to-day, having apparently found her complement of men by some secret means. It is supposed that previous to leaving this port yesterday she made arrangements to take on board, outside the harbor, the additional men and stores wanted. It is supposed it was for this purpose she anchored off shore shortly after leaving the river. It is, therefore, concluded that during the night the Presidente Errazuriz was busily engaged in taking on board all that she needed for her trip across the Atlantic.

THE SIOUX INDIANS.

Selecting a New Location for the Agency—Two Factions.

CHAMBERLAIN, S. D., Aug. 1.—The Sioux Commission, now at Lower Brule Agency to select a new location for the agency and arrange other matters, has already done much preliminary work, but nothing definite has been accomplished. One faction of the Indians want the agency moved north on the Missouri River, while another faction insists on its being moved south of White River to the Rosebud Reservation. The feeling between the two factions is so bitter that they do not speak when meeting each other. A grand council of all the Indians at Lower Brule is being held to-day to determine the number composing each faction.

WANTED HIS MONEY.

A Chesapeake & Ohio Passenger's Fight With a Desperate Robber.

THE FORMER, A MR. CONNEL, SHOT AND DANGEROUSLY WOUNDED.

A Murder Mystery in Michigan Cleared Up—Pay-Roll Frauds at the Brooklyn Navy Yard—A New York Banker in Serious Trouble—The Criminal Calendar.

STAUNTON, Va., Aug. 1.—Last night, on the west-bound Chesapeake & Ohio train between Waynesboro and Basic City, a man entered a sleeper and, going to the berth occupied by Mr. Connell of Portsmouth, O., demanded his money. Mr. Connell refused to give it to him and started to make a defense, when the burglar shot him, inflicting a dangerous wound. The assailant escaped. Mr. Connell is now at Charlottsville in a critical condition.

PAY-ROLL FRAUDS.

TWO EMPLOYES OF THE BROOKLYN NAVY YARD SUSPENDED.

NEW YORK, Aug. 1.—Jonas M. Farrington and Wm. Desmond, employes of the Brooklyn Navy Yard, have been suspended. It is alleged that they are mixed up in pay-roll frauds. A board of inquiry is making an investigation and its report will probably be sent to Washington on Monday. Several arrests will, is is said, result from the investigation. The alleged wrong doing is in connection with the pay-roll of the yards and docks department of the yard. Last Tuesday afternoon two payers named Allen and Ryan presented checks to Paymaster George H. Griffin; the latter looked puzzled for a moment and then handed the checks back to the men, saying that he had already paid them. The two men insisted that they had never had been paid and demanded their money. Mr. Griffin again looked over his books and found that he was right. He then called in Civil Engineer Asserson, who is head of the Department of Yards and Docks, and then Commandant Henry Eben was notified of the irregularities that had been discovered. The next day the commandant appointed a board of investigation to investigate the matter. The commandant also suspended Chief Clerk William Desmond and Jonas M. Farrington of the Docks and Yards Department. The Board of Inquiry sat all day Thursday and yesterday and unearthed enough frauds to warrant a report being sent to Washington. When the discovery was made on Tuesday Desmond and Farrington had gone home for the day. Desmond did not appear at the yard on Wednesday, reporting sick. He has not been here since, but is supposed to be in Rockland County with his wife. The other clerk, Farrington, however, appeared at the usual time and denied all knowledge of the duplicity. He said he had no hand in it and derived no profit from it. He was away five days last week, and his friends say the falsifications were made during his absence. While he was away his place was filled by a writer named Andrew Frank, who has been away on leave since Monday. The board is investigating him also. The navy yard officials were very reticent about the case yesterday. Commandant Eben would not say what amount of money had been obtained by the falsification of the pay-roll and neither would he say how long it had been going on. It is thought that the Board of Inquiry will finish its labors to-day.

A MURDER MYSTERY SOLVED.

THE KILLING OF ALBERT MOLITE AND HIS CLERK IN 1875.

PETOSKEY, Mich., Aug. 1.—Twenty years ago Albert Molitor of Detroit, Mich., settled in Rogers City, Presque Isle County, and engaged in heavy business undertakings, principally merchandise and lumbering. On the night of Aug. 23, 1875, he was murdered while sitting at his desk, being riddled with bullets. His clerk, a young man named Sullivan, sprang to his assistance, and he also received a similar charge. They both died within a few days. The killing created widespread excitement and was the talk of the State and county at the time. Both were highly respected. A large reward was offered for the apprehension of the murderers, but what effort was made in that direction is not recalled now, and while the matter has been almost forgotten by the outside world in the lapse of fifteen years, yet disconnected rumors and criminations could be heard most any time in Presque Isle County, brought about by occasional local quarrels and troubles. These rumors have come to a realization by the action of one William Klepke, a farmer residing in Melke township, who has made a confession to the Prosecuting Attorney. He states that his troubled conscience was unbearable to him—that he could stand the remorse and secret no longer. His confession is that seventeen years ago some citizens of Presque Isle County, including himself, entered into an oath-bound compact to assassinate Albert Molitor and Frederick Denny Larke. For some reason Larke was not seen on the fatal evening and he states that the killing of the clerk, Sullivan, was a mistake. The shot he received was intended as a second one for Molitor. The list contains many prominent men of the county. Prosecuting Attorney Inglesby, fearing publication might hinder justice, requested that the names be witheld from publication. Warrants are being issued and those residing in the county will be arrested. Some residing at Cross Village have already been arrested. Two of the conspirators died several days ago, while several more have removed from the county, but they will be arrested and brought back. The murdered man, Molitor, has a brother in Detroit. Excitement is high here, and it is the sole topic of conversation. It is expected that all will be arrested before noon to-day. Why they wished to kill these men is not as yet known.

A BANKER IN TROUBLE.

CHARGED WITH SWINDLING CAPT. BOWMAN OF THE UNITED STATES ARMY.

NEW YORK, Aug. 1.—Capt. A. H. Bowman of the United States Army stationed at Los Angeles, Cal., claims that he has been swindled by Rene De Montdore, a banker of 510 Fifth avenue, this city and, to back up his statement, he has had Mr. Montdore arrested and locked up. The Captain states that after having read the banker's advertisement in a Western paper, he sent him two checks aggregating $1,000, which he was to hold for him until his visit to this city. Montdore wrote that he would give 6 per cent interest, but when the Captain called on his banker, a couple of weeks ago, Mr. Montdore said that it was usual to give fifteen days' notice before demanding money deposited. The Captain waited fifteen days but did not get his money then. The banker explained to the Judge before whom he was arraigned, that the money had been invested according to orders and lost. Mr. Montdore was held for further examination in default of $1,000 bail.

BROOKLYN'S FEMALE BURGLAR.

NEW YORK, Aug. 1.—Bella Hunt, Brooklyn's female burglar, was held for trial yesterday, together with John Kendrick and Fred King. Bella is 16, blue-eyed and pretty. She and her two companions are charged with stealing $600 worth of silverware and clothing from the residence of Robert Lethridge. Detectives Corcoran and Campbell, three days later, arrested Bella and Kendrick, who is only 21 years old and the son of a well known undertaker, and King, and found in their apartments a set of burglars' tools and a lot of silverware. The girl has been married and separated from her husband and is known to the detectives. She was very careful about getting a good photograph for the rogues' gallery.

MURDERED BY HIS NEIGHBORS.

EVANSVILLE, Ind., Aug. 1.—Henry B. Ritter, a wealthy farmer, was fatally injured in a quarrel by two neighbors of his, the Stapp brothers, yesterday. The affair is the outcome of a quarrel over a roadway which was surveyed between the Stapp and Ritter farms, and although Ritter was declared right in the argument which arose over the question, the Stapp brothers continued to persecute him. Yesterday they called at his house and asked him to come over and help them thresh some wheat, which Ritter refused, and the brothers then attacked him with pitchforks with the above result. The Stapps were arrested and it is thought that they will be lynched.

AN IMPORTANT ARREST.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Aug. 1.—One of the most important arrests that has been made in this State for years was that of Alexander Wines, who has become notorious in Southern Illinois and Kentucky in his role of impersonating Post-office Inspector, Special Examiner, etc., for all of which he has been indicted by the Federal Grand-jury. United States Marshals Hobart and Kavanaugh have been on Wines' trail for some months, but could not locate him until Monday of this week. He was captured at the house of a farmer named Joe Holbrook, six miles east of Elizabethtown.

THE TARVERS RESPITED.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Aug. 1.—Gov. Buchanan has granted Nathan and Woodville Tarver a respite to Oct. 9. The Tarvers are under sentence of death for killing Charles Goodall in May, 1890. The three were neighbors near Hickman, Ky., and Goodall was accused of stealing a skiff from the Tarvers. He fled to Lake County, Tenn., and was followed by the Tarvers and killed there. The brothers claim that the shooting was accidental. They intended only to arrest him, but the warrant they had was good only in Kentucky.

AN EXPERT LOCK-PICKER.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Aug. 1.—Sidney Broocks, renowned some years ago as an exhibiting lock-picker, has been arrested for stealing a suit of clothes from Charles Hood, an engineer. Broocks traveled over the country at one time in the employ of the inventor of a burglar-proof door and window lock. He showed how easily all other locks could be picked, and made phenomenal sales of the one he carried. It is thought that he made $75,000 in six years, but drink caused his downfall.

THE ELLIOTT MURDER CASE.

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 1.—Gen. Powell yesterday filed a motion for a new trial for W. J. Elliott, convicted of the murder of A. C. Osborne. The reasons assigned were that the jury was not an impartial and fair one; that the court overruled the application for a change of venue; irregularity in the proceedings of the trial and in the argument; misconduct of the jury and witnesses; newly discovered evidence, and that the verdict was not sustained by the evidence, and finally that the Grand-jury was an illegal one.

A JAIL DELIVERY.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Aug. 1.—A jail delivery, caused by Deputy Sheriff Taggert leaving the keys in the door of a cell, resulted in the escape of nearly all the prisoners in the Lonoke (Ark.) county jail yesterday morning. Smith, a 15-year-old prisoner, charged with poisoning stock, discovered the keys and unlocked five cells, releasing seven prisoners. One, Mose Barber, colored, indicted for murder, went to the Court-house and surrendered. A posse of men with dogs are after the others.

THE RAILROAD WORLD.

Early Completion of the Hudson River Tunnel—A New Line.

A NEW CHICAGO-ST. LOUIS LINE.

CHICAGO, Ill., Aug. 1.—A morning paper says that a new route between Chicago and St. Louis is among the immediate probabilities. This is to be made by a combination of the Eastern Illinois and the "Big Four." The Eastern Illinois is now building a branch line from Tuscola to Shelbyville, a distance of some seventy-five miles. Of this track about fifty miles is already completed. The new line will be completed probably by Oct. 1 and be ready for business by Dec. 1. The line would not be the shortest between Chicago and St. Louis but it would be shorter than the Santa Fe's red line between the two cities.

SECRETARY NOBLE.

His Reported Resignation Vigorously Denied at Cape May.

THE GENERAL HAS NEVERTHELESS EXPRESSED A DESIRE TO RETIRE.

Mr. Harrison Said to Have Promised to Let Gen. Noble Go as Soon as He Can Find a New Head for the Interior Department—Washington News and Gossip.

NEW YORK, Aug. 1.—Collector Fassett, who has just returned from a visit to President Harrison at Cape May Point, says that the reported resignation of Secretary Noble was vigorously denied at the presidential cottage.

"I heard Private Secretary Halford tell the newspaper correspondents," said Mr. Fassett, "that not only had the Secretary not resigned, but that there was nothing in the statement that Gen. Noble proposed to leave the Cabinet."

A Washington dispatch to a morning paper in discussing the same subject says that notwithstanding the denials that come from Cape May and from department officials in Washington that Secretary Noble has tendered his resignation to the President, there is the very best authority for stating that the Secretary has notified the President that he desires to retire from the Cabinet. The resignation has not been made in the usual formal way to be acted upon at once, but the President has been asked by Gen. Noble to retire him and Mr. Harrison has promised to do so as soon as he can find the proper person to place at the head of the Interior Department.

The story which receives most credence to-day is that Secretary Noble's health has been so bad of late that he felt unable to perform the duties of his position; that he has felt alarm over symptoms of heart trouble, and that he is now taking a long rest with an indefinite leave of absence, in the hope that recreation and rest may enable him to resume the duties of his post. If his vacation fails to produce the desired effect, then he will ask the President to accept his resignation. It is believed that the President is cognizant of these facts and will only consent to Gen. Noble's quitting the Cabinet when it is demonstrated that his health demands his retirement.

Gen. Noble's friends are speculating a little as to what he will do if he goes out of the Cabinet. They say they are certain he will not take the Judgeship in the Eighth Circuit. A story is current to the effect that the Secretary said that such an appointment had no attractions for him. It is the general opinion of those who know him best that if he goes out of the Cabinet he will be appointed to a mission.

A RULING ON DUTIABLE GOODS.

On the advice of the Attorney-General the Treasury Department has acquiesced in the decision of the Circuit Court for the Northern District of California, in the suits of Leeson against ex-Collector Sullivan. In testimony whereof I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

Done at the city of Washington this 1st day of August, one thousand eight hundred and ninety-one, and of the Independence of the United States of America the one hundred and sixteenth.

TOLL FOR LANDING.

Steamboat Men Are Complaining of the Wharfage Tax.

HARBOR COMMISSIONER ABLE MAKES REPLY TO THEIR CHARGES.

The Statement That There Ought to Be $200,000 Surplus in the Harbor Fund Said to Be Ridiculous—What the Boats Pay for Wharfage—The Laclede Gas Co.'s Injunction.

The temporary injunction granted by Judge Withrow in the Circuit Court restraining the Harbor and Wharf Commissioner from collecting certain wharfage dues from the Laclede Gas-Light Co. for the landing of its coal barges at the foot of Rutger street promises to develop several interesting features before the questions raised by the Laclede company are settled. It is not unlikely that before the trouble with the Laclede company comes to an end the steamboatmen will take a hand and air some alleged grievances of their own against the Harbor and Wharf Department. In addition to the question of the validity of the ordinance under which the wharfage dues are at present regulated and collected, there may also be an attempt on the part of the river men to secure the repeal of the ordinance by the Municipal Assembly. The argument used as a basis for such an effort will be that the scale of dues as established at present is unnecessarily high, and that the annual revenues from same far exceed the annual expenditures for keeping the river front in good condition. The river men believe that they have good cause for complaint on several counts as the case stands at present, and there is a movement now under way looking towards unity of action on the part of steamooatmen in having their grievance attended to. The matter may be brought before the Municipal Assembly at an early date and occupy the attention of the Harbor Commissioner simultaneously with the Laclede trouble.

THE STEAMBOATMEN'S COMPLAINT.

Steamboatmen are in a decidedly bad humor about the way Water street has been torn up for laying the new railroad track along the top of the wharf. The bill authorizing this work was silently passed through the Councils, and not a steamboatman in St. Louis even knew it was contemplated. The new track will be the fourth one now on that street, and is so far out on the Levee that when the river is at a high stage there will be only about thirty feet of wharf-room for all the steamboats landing here to discharge their freight on. Another thing that is giving cause for considerable complaint is the rate of wharfage charged by the city for steamboats landing at the wharf. A POST-DISPATCH reporter met a prominent steamboat owner this morning and asked for some facts concerning the charges.

"I will give you all the information I can, if you agree not to use my name," he answered.

"What is your objection to having your name used?" asked the news man.

"Because I have a wharf-boat at the landing, and if I were to go into print kicking about the management of things the mud in front of my wharf-boat might be the last washed off the wharf, but if the steamboatmen will unite and all take a hand in this objection, then you can use my name.

"The question of wharfage at St. Louis is the tender place in a steamboat owner's heart. The amounts charged for the privilege of landing at the wharf, bringing business to the city of St. Louis and holding the railroads down to fair rates of freight, are too high. Why, just let me tell you what some of the lines have to pay to be allowed to do business here. The Grand Republic pays $112 a week, and never less than $400 per month; the amount varies as to the number of trips she makes. If she makes one trip per day she is charged one wharfage, but if she was to make four trips a day she would have to pay the same amount four times. All the other excursion boats are taxed the same way. The Grand Republic last season in four months paid the city of St. Louis $1,400 for wharfage. Take the Anchor Line; their wharfage amounts to $5,500 per year. The Diamond Jo Line pays $350 per month. The Ferd Herold has to pay $5.40 per trip, no matter if she makes a dozen trips in one day. The Cherokee is charged $10.60 per trip and the Massengale Line pays $27 a week for the privilege of landing two boats per week. Then what kind of accommodation do we get in return for our money? We could formerly unload our heavy freight, such as lumber, pig iron and cotton received from boats from below, on the lower wharf, say from Market street down, but now that part of the wharf is taken up by sand barges, etc., so that the only thing we can do is to send our small boats above the bridge, which is dangerous at all times, and send the larger boats away down below the elevator, but the railroads can put on long cams and shove their bills through the Councils, use the wharf as a roadbed and crowd the steamboats out."

CLAIMS THE SURPLUS IS $200,000.

The reporter met another prominent river man a few minutes later who said:

"I see by the POST-DISPATCH that Capt. Dan Able says there is only $20,000 surplus in the wharf fund. Well, there should not be a cent of surplus, but I happen to know the amount is nearer $200,000 than the first named figures, but the amount has been loaned out to different departments in such a way that the wharf fund may only show a small surplus. Then talk about the expense of collecting wharfage, keeping it clean and in repair, being $60,000 per year. Why, I can get a dozen responsible men to contract and give bond to do the same work as is now being done by the city for $30,000 a year and make good money out of the contract, but I would not have so many gilt-edged clerks to sit around with their feet on the desk and do nothing but read papers and smoke cigars, nor would I have so much expense attached to the harbor boat."

HARBOR COMMISSIONER ABLE REPLIES.

Harbor Commissioner Able was seen by a POST-DISPATCH reporter this morning and told of the complaints being made by the steamboat men.

"There is no ground for such complaint," said he very decidedly, "and many of the statements made by your informant are grossly incorrect. The work on Water street is not materially interfering with river traffic, and in all the railroad improvements on the levee every care is taken to protect steamboatmen's interests. That, however, is not the basis of their complaints. They are kicking against paying the present wharfage dues, and the statements they make as to their being too high are based on figures that have no existence in reality. This assertion that the real surplus in the department amounts to $200,000 is absurd. The surplus, as shown by the statement at the close of the fiscal year, was just $20,885, and for the year before, a trifle over $15,000, showing a gain of about $5,000, which is running pretty close to the actual cost of keeping the river front in good condition. There is not $1 loaned from this department to other city departments. Such a thing would be impossible. The revenue from wharfage dues, etc., forms practically a sacred fund, which cannot be diverted to any other purpose, or loaned out to any other department.

A RIDICULOUS STATEMENT.

"The statement that the work of keeping the wharf and river front in good condition can be done for $30,000 per year is ridiculous. That sum would not pay for the street improvement work on two or three blocks of the river front. Last year this department expended over $79,000 on the river front, and is doing an equal amount of improvement work this year. A showing of receipts and expenditures of this office for several years back would prove that the present scale of dues charged for wharfage, etc., is not excessive, but is based closely upon the actual cost of keeping the levee in good condition. If the steamboatmen are complaining about wharfage dues, they are kicking about a scale which they themselves agreed to before the ordinance was passed in 1887. As to the complaint of the excursion boats, I would say that those boats with their frequent trips and landings do more to interfere with the river traffic at St. Louis than any other class of steamers, and should certainly pay for the privileges granted them. It would be a good thing for business if they were out of existence.

"At any rate the wharfage dues will be collected by me as they stand at present just so long as I have to do my duty under the present ordinance establishing those charges. If the steamboatmen want relief they will have to go before the City Council to get the ordinance repealed. When they do that I will fight the movement there, and show by facts and figures that cannot be disputed that the charges are perfectly fair and give the Department only a revenue sufficient for its needs.

THE TROUBLE WITH THE LACLEDE.

The Harbor Commissioner then touched upon the trouble with the Laclede Gas-Light Co. "Their claim that the city cannot enforce a wharfage tax upon vessels coming from another State is absurd," he said. "The ordinance provides for a certain charge upon all vessels using wharfage privileges, and the Laclede company cannot be exempt from those charges. In addition to the 172 feet which they had from the city under contract, they also used 200 feet on other side for unloading their coal. The result was that when bidding for coal they were enabled to offer prospective sellers free wharfage in St. Louis, which was unfair to all others using and paying for wharfage privileges. We propose to enforce the ordinance by charging the Laclede company a wharfage tax upon every ton of coal landed, as we do all other parties, were their attempt to crash the provisions of the ordinance. We shall bring suit against the company for such amounts as may be due the city under those charges as established by the ordinance, and in that way effectually settle the question of whether or not they are to have practically free wharfage in St. Louis."

A FATAL EXPLOSION.

DISTURBED THE PREACHER'S PEACE.

OSAGE, N. J., Aug. 1.—Adelaide Brown, a love-sick maiden, was arrested yesterday and locked up in the County Jail. Adelaide is charged with disturbing the peace of the Rev. W. T. Jason, pastor of St. John's Methodist Church of this city. It seems that Miss Brown fell desperately in love with the Rev. Jason about a year ago and has been bothering him since, to his intense mortification. A short time ago Jason wrote a letter to the woman in which he advised her to cease her foolishness. Yesterday while Jason was in his study the woman armed with a horsewhip attempted to enter and thrash him, but she was taken in custody before her designs could be carried out.

AN AWFUL FALL.

CHICAGO, Ill., Aug. 1.—Yesterday afternoon Jacob M. Rochem, an iron-worker on the new Masonic Temple at the corner of State and Randolph streets, was killed by a terrible fall from the eleventh floor to the basement. He was walking on a narrow stringer when his foot slipped and he was precipitated head first. The tenth, ninth and eighth floors are crossed by beams and girders and the man struck and bounded from them in this awful fall. He was not dead when lifted into the ambulance, but died shortly afterward. Both legs and an arm were broken and his skull was crushed. The body was taken to the Morgue.

KICKED TO DEATH BY A HORSE.

GREENFIELD, Ill., Aug. 1.—Willie, a little son of George Mitchell, living near the Poor Farm in this (Greene) county, was kicked in the breast by a horse yesterday morning and instantly killed. Mr. Mitchell was hitching up his team to drive to town, and his boy was helping him. The flies made the horses restless and Willie happened to be standing where he received the full force of the kick. After receiving the kick he staggered a few feet and fell dead. He was 8 years of age.

FATAL FUMES.

CINCINNATI, O., Aug. 1.—A special to the Times-Star from Lima, O., says: Chas. Phillips met death in a peculiar manner at the Standard Solar Refinery here, this morning. He had been sent to the top of the distillery to draw a sample. In opening the man hole he breathed fumes and was soon suffocated. His body was found lying on the tank some time later. Philips was from Ohio City, where he leaves a wife. He had just come here and gone to work yesterday.

BUSINESS EMBARRASSMENTS.

A Corporation Declared Unsound—The Suffolk Co. Attachments.

BOSTON, Mass., Aug. 1.—In the Supreme Court yesterday Judge Lathrop issued an order of notice requiring the Columbian Bond and Investment Co. to show cause why an injunction should not issue to prevent the company from continuing further its business. The company has issued 1,200 bonds of $1,000 each, for which the holders pay a monthly assessment of $1.50. The unsoundness of the company is the reason alleged in the bill why its affairs should be wound up.

THE SUFFOLK COMPANY ATTACHMENTS.

BOSTON, Mass., Aug. 1.—It is learned of the $252,000 attachments upon the Suffolk Manufacturing Co. (suspenders) of South Boston, some $250,000 were placed by Charles Rollins of Boston, the company's treasurer. Mr. Rollins says the attachment is for money advanced by him to the company. His claim, he says, is the amount of the attachment, and the company owes but little more. The assets aggregate $442,000 encumbered to the amount of only $24,000. Mr. Rollins says his action is not unfriendly to the company, but was taken to prevent complications through attachments by small creditors.

MADE AN ASSIGNMENT.

BOSTON, Mass., Aug 1.—Nathan Neal & Co., manufacturers and dealers in trunks, valises, bags, etc., have made an assignment, without preferences, for the benefit of their creditors. No statement has yet been prepared. The liabilities are about equally divided between Boston and New York.

Miss Bell was too ill to swear out the warrant, for she is confined to her bed by the injuries. Her sister, Mrs. Addie Nahn, took out the warrant to-day in Justice Kane's court.

LONGSTREET WINS.

Tenny Defeated in the Great Match Race To-day.

BATTLE FOR SUPREMACY BETWEEN MONARCHS OF THE TURF.

An Enormous Crowd Witnesses the Contest—Tenny Opened a Slight Favorite in the Betting—Historical Sketch of Both Horses and Their Defeats and Triumphs—Scenes at the Track.

MORRIS PARK RACE TRACK, Aug. 1.—"No man with sporting blood in his veins can afford to say he did not witness this race, and in years to come it will be something to tell one's grandchildren," is the way the admirers of horse flesh spoke regarding the great Tenny-Longstreet match.

And the surging, jostling, pushing thousands assembled here to-day, bore witness that there were plenty of sporting blood represented. Not only do they come from this vicinity but from distant points, all eager to see that the battle for the $12,500 and the championship of the turf, for Tenny and Longstreet are admittedly the best horses in training in America to-day.

A more perfect day could not have been made to suit this great event. A sunshine tempered with pleasant breezes and a track made perfect by unceasing work with roller and harrow since yesterday greeted the gaze and warmed the hopes of many who had predicted a smashing of all previous records for a mile and a quarter.

There was very little choice in the betting, but there seemed to be a slight leaning toward Tenny. Each horse found plenty of backers in the hotel and theater lobbies and clubs last night, although several wagers were made of $500, to $400 on Tenny. On the other hand a Western man who had seen Longstreet perform at Jerome on Thursday bet $1,000 to $900 that he would be first under the wire to-day.

At the track this morning Tenny was slightly the favorite with the bookmakers, the odds being Tenny, 3 to 5; Longstreet, 4 to 5. As the day wore the eagerness became greater and the betting more spirited. The other events on the programme which would have been interesting on any other day paled into insignificance and but one thought seemed to possess the 25,000 human beings present.

Frequent and anxious were the inquiries as to the condition of the flyers, and each inquiry was met by the assurance that the were fit to run for a life. The inquiries also extended to the jockeys, and Hamilton, who was down to ride Longstreet, and Barnes, who was assigned the mount on Tenny, were pronounced in a condition in keeping with the animals. Each jockey rode at 124 pounds.

After the first three races on the programme had been disposed of, the crowd rushed eagerly to the betting-stand to back their choice. Tenny was made a slight favorite, the odds against him being 4 to 5 on, while even money could be obtained against Longstreet. The race was won by Longstreet by twelve lengths. He led from the start. Time, 2:07½.

TENNY AND LONGSTREET.

Tenny and Longstreet are both 5-year-olds, and both have been the property of their present owners ever since they began their turf careers, but Phil Dwyer owned a half interest in the son of Longfellow up to the time he dissolved partnership with his brother, Michael F. Dwyer. David Tenny Pulsifer, or "Col." Pulsifer, as he is now known, was a former St. Louisan and was quite well known here some years ago among the sporting fraternity. The horse Tenny derives his name from his owner's middle name. The horse is a short little bay with a sway back, and runs in blinkers. He is anything but a race-horse in appearance. While possessed of good staying qualities and wonderful bursts of speed, Tenny is given to sulking at times, which makes him rather uncertain as a performer. As a sprinter he is phenomenal. Tenny is by imp. Rayon D'Or out of Belle of Maywood by Huster's Lexington. He is the first of his get by Imp. Rayon D'Or, and is the only foal she has ever thrown which has amounted to anything as a race-horse, although there are some full brothers and sisters to Tenny which may yet prove good performers. Tenny was a cast-off whom Mr. Pulsifer purchased very cheap. As a 2-year-old he was a poor performer, but as a 3-year-old aad 4-year-old he showed remarkable powers, and his races last year with Salvator will be rembered by all. He never had the honor of beating that great horse. As a 3-year-old they met once, and Salvator, conceding him thirteen pounds, won by a nose, Tenny making a phenomenal finish and many ascribing his defeat to poor riding. Three times they met as 4-year-olds in the Suburban Handicap in a match race which grew out of it as the Champion Stakes, and in every instance Salvator won. In the first two of these three races the finishes were so close as to prove most unsatisfactory to Tenny's admirers, who still believed him the better horse. When they met in the Champion Stakes, however, the great son of Prince Charles ran the little swayback off her feet, Tenny's defeat being most decisive.

This match race between Tenny and Longstreet was by no means their first meeting. As 3-year olds they met three times, Longstreet beating Tenny by a neck in the first of the races, and the swayback being an easy victor in the other two. Both started for the Suburban Handicap last year and Tenny got third place while Longstreet finished last, so that previous to to-day Longstreet finished behind Tenny in three of the four races in which they met.

TENNY'S RECORD.

Tenny started fifteen times as a 2-year-old before he scored a win. He ran seventeen races all told at that age and won both the last events. His first start was in the Harold Stakes, at Latonia, on Thursday, May 31, when he finished eleventh in a field of fifteen. Once Again won the race and Proctor Knott, Hindoocraft, Outbound, Gymnast, Sparling and others of less note were among those who finished ahead of Tenny. His first win was at the Latonia fall meeting, on Monday, Oct. 8, when he won on owner's handicap at five and a half furlongs. The purse won by him was only $250. Eleven horses started but they were a poor lot and despite his many defects, the Pulsifer colt was the favorite. The following Thursday Tenny won another purse, beating Spokane, Castaway II, Hindoocraft, Spectator, Metal, Red Light, Julian and Sir Edward. As a 2-year-old Tenny was placed three times.

Tenny was also a very busy colt as a 3-year-old and showed most wonderful improvement, winning ten out of eighteen races in which he started. He opened up at Brooklyn on May 21, when he ran second to Joe Lee in a handicap for all ages. On May 25, at the same meeting, he met Longstreet for the first time and was beaten a neck by the Dwyer colt after a desperate finish. Four others started. The distance was one mile and Tenny came with a rush at the finish. On May 30 Tenny beat a good field of eight horses at Brooklyn for the Fort Hamilton Handicap. His next race was at Coney Island, on June 15, when he won the Volunteer Handicap, beating five good horses. In his next race which was run July 2 at Coney Island he met for the first time the great Salvator, who afterwards became such a rival of his. It was in the Realization stakes, one and five-eighths miles, and the Haggin crack carried 122 pounds to Tenny's 109. Tenny came with a terrific burst of speed at the close and was beaten by Salvator by only a nose. Seven other horses started. In the Midsummer handicap, run July 13 at Monmouth Park, Tenny finished seventh in a field of eight, the race being won by Badge. On July 23 at the same track he captured the Passaic stakes, three-quarters of a mile, from Badge and a field of eight others, including such sprinters as Britannic, Volunteer II, Madstone and Fitzjames. On Aug. 1 Tenny beat Eurus and Prose in the Eatentown stakes. Again he and Longstreet met at even weights in the Choice stakes decided at Monmouth on Aug. 10, and this time Tenny won, the son of Longfellow finishing last in a field of four. Pulsifer's horse won the Van Nest Stakes on Aug. 22 at the inaugural meeting of the New York Jockey Club, and the Electric Stakes at the same track on Aug. 27, the great Hanover finishing second to him in the latter event. The Pelham Bay handicap run on the same track on Aug. 31 also fell to Rayon D'Or's great son. Volunteer II. beat him for the Speed Stakes three-fourths of a mile at Coney Island Sept. 12. In the Fulton Stakes decided at the Brooklyn track Sept. 19, Tenny again lowered Longstreet's colors. Kingston and Raceland finished in front of the little swayback for the first special at Brooklyn Sept. 24, and Reporter and Los Angeles beat him in the second special two days later. Tenny won the Oakland Stakes from a strong field at Morris Park Oct. 2 and closed his career for the year by running third to Castaway and Sorrento in the Trial Stakes at the same track on Oct. 5.

It was as a 4-year-old, however, that Tenny first displayed his wonderful speed to its full extent. He begun by winning the New York Jockey Club handicap from a large and fast field on May 30. He also won a sweepstakes at that club's track on June 4 and June 10 and beat Sorrento there for the Westchester cup on June 14. Then he was beaten by Salvator and Cassius for the Suburban, Longstreet, with nine pounds lessweight than Tenny, finishing last. Next Tenny was defeated on June 25 at Coney Island in his match race with Salvator. He won a sweepstakes at that track June 28, had a walk-over for the Ocean stakes at Monmouth on July 4 and beat Firenzi, Chesapeake and Soho for the Eatentown stakes at the same course on Aug. 2. Firenzi reversed the tables on him on Aug. 7 over the same track in the Freehold stakes, and Salvator beat him for the Champion stakes on Aug. 12 at Monmouth. Tenny made an unsuccessful attempt to lower Ten Brœck's time on Aug. 25 at the Brighton Beach track, covering a mile in 1:40¾. He closed the year by beating Firenzi, Prince Royal and Rhono for the Labor Day stakes at Coney Island on Sept. 1.

Tenny has started four times this year and been beaten twice, once for the Suburban handicap. He won the Brooklyn Jockey Club handicap, Friday, May 15, from a strong field, and beat Kingston for the Ocean Stakes at Monmouth on July 4.

LONGSTREET'S RECORD.

Longstreet is by Longfellow, out of Semper Idem by Glen Athol, and is a full brother to Longford, who is now running in the East. He was a speedy but peculiarly delicate colt as a 2-year-old, and only started in three races. He is very fast on a dry track, but has always been considered very poor in heavy going, and until recently has been extremely sensitive, the slightest mishap spoiling him for a race. As a 3-year-old he ran in a number of races, but was not as good a colt as Tenny, although at that age he had the honor of winning the Omnibus Stakes from Salvator, the swayback's old conqueror. As a 4-year-old Longstreet was generally out of condition and accomplished little. His greatest record has been made this year, when up to to-day he ran in seventeen races and won fifteen of them. With a few exceptions, however, he had easy fields, though he has beaten some good horses.

Longstreet started only three times as a 2-year-old and was beaten twice. He finished fifth in a poor field in the Kentucky stakes at Saratoga, which was his initial race. He won a purse at Brooklyn on Aug. 29, from a poor field of fourteen horses and two days later finished fifth in a race at the same track.

As a 3-year-old Longstreet ran in twenty-three races and won ten of them. His first win was when he beat Tenny and others for a purse at Brooklyn on May 25. He won the Equality stakes at Coney Island, the Stevens Stakes at Monmouth and a purse at Saratoga, all from ordinary fields. He beat Salvator, Proctor Knott and four others for the Omnibus stakes at Monmouth. Salvator conceded him seven pounds and Proctor Knott gave him two pounds, but Longstreet won easily. A sweepstakes won by him at Brooklyn on Sept. 30; the Jerome stakes, with Philosophy as the only starter; a sweepstakes on Oct. 16, with Carnot as the only other starter, a sweepstakes following day, and a sweepstakes on Oct. 30, all from small and generally poor fields, complete his victories for the year.

As a 4-year-old Longstreet started eight times and won only twice. He captured a sweepstakes at Coney Island on June 27 and a free handicap sweepstakes at Monmouth on July 8, the latter from a fair field.

This year Longstreet has won fifteen out of seventeen races for which he has started, the Spring Turf Stakes at Coney Island and the Welter Cup at Monmouth being the only stake events in the lot. He has beaten Prince Royal, Tea Tray, Reclare, Badge, Text, Eon, Senorita, Bermuda, Pessara, La Tosca, Correction, Tormentor and Strideaway. As a rule, however, he has had easy fields.

LABOR NEWS.

Nebraska's Eight-Hour Law Now in Force —Firemen Resign.

OMAHA, Neb., Aug. 1.—The eight-hour law passed by the last Legislature went into effect this morning. The only trouble growing out of the enforcement of the law, so far, is a lockout of job printers. The employing printers refused to grant eight hours, and when the men came to work as usual this morning they were told that their services were no longer needed. Only one shop in the city, Berkley's, has complied with the law.

The lasters have given notice that they would demand more pay on and after Sept. 1. Mr. Winchell states that he will not submit to their demands, and will shut down before they have an opportunity to enter into a controversy with him. He says he is tired of being bulldozed by labor unions.

FIREMEN TO RESIGN.

SEATTLE, Wash., Aug. 1.—Every member of the Fire Department will resign to-night. A petition was circulated yesterday and was signed by all the members. Durand's Clever Design.

H. Durand, General Advertising Agent of the Wabash route, has issued a strikingly artistic pamphlet in connection with the Twenty-fifth National Encampment of the G. A. R. The cover is done in silver, and has a Grand Army hat decorated with a Wabash banner. Beneath are two bars of music, with the words: "He stuck the banner in his hat and said he'd take the Wabash" to the refrain of "Yankee Doodle." On the first page contains a likeness of Maj. Stephensen, founder of the Grand Army, and on the other side a picture of the hall in Decatur, Ill., where the initial Grand Army Post was formed. The remainder of the book contains a fac-simile of original post No. 1, a circular letter from Commander Veazey, suggesting the erection of a Memorial Hall at Decatur, Ill., the Bethlehem of the G. A. R.; also the circular letter issued by the National Committee appointed for that purpose. There are two pages of cuts of the charter members of post No. 1, and a schedule of their special train from Decatur to Detroit. The book will be a useful and elegant souvenir of the encampment.

BEATRICE PAULE, the 2-year-old daughter of Arthur B. Paule, living on the corner of Minnesota and Davis streets, was leaning over the balcony yesterday, when she lost her balance and fell to the ground, a distance of twenty feet. REAL ESTATE INTERESTS.

Preparations to Build a New Suburban Railroad—Sales and Personals.

Among the North St. Louis agents there is considerable gossip about the sale of Schulenburg & Boeckler's lumber yards sites for $900,000 to the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy Railroad Co. Whittaker & Hodgman, whose business associations with the railroad company especially with reference to its purchase of real estate for a right of way into the city places the firm in a position to know something about such a transaction if it had been made, were seen to ascertain what truth if any there was in the report.

When the subject was broached to Mr. Hodgman he replied: "Well, now, if you want to have a fight on your hands just go and tell that to Mr. Boeckler." Resuming he said there was no truth whatever in the gossip. At least if the property had been sold his firm knew nothing about it, and it was not at all probable that the sale would be made without them knowing something about it. He furthermore stated that if it were true he would readily tell the POST-DISPATH what he knew of the transaction.

PREPARING FOR ACTION.

The Midland Land Co., composed of E. A. Benoist, Francis Kuhn, E. C. Robbins, A. M. Carpenter, John C. Ackerman, Chas. K. Ramsey and C. C. Nicholls, has recently bought a tract of 231 acres of ground on the north side of Page avenue, extending from the west side of the Wabash Railway to the Hanley road, paying $100,000 therefor. This large plot will be subdivided and sold in acre lots.

Deeds for this property were entered for record last Wednesday, showing the owners of the property and their share of the land before the sale. They are as follows: George Kingsland and wife to Sallie J. Guyre, lot 6, Kingsland's Page avenue addition, containing 30.45 acres, for $12,180; Lawrence D. Kingsland, trustee for Mary E. Kingsland, and her husband, Phillip S., to Sallie J. Guyre, lot 7, same addition, containing 19.30 acres, for $7,720; Edward C. Robbins and wife to Sallie J. Guyre, lot 4, same addition, containing 28.80 acres, for $18,280; John Boyle and wife to Sallie J. Guyre, 112.66 acres, northwest corner of Hanley road and Cook avenue, for $40,104; Sarah Ann Bradford to Sallie J. Guyre, part of lot 8, United States survey 2,775, containing thirty-one acres, on the north side of Cook avenue. Miss Sallie J. Guyre, whose name has been connected with all the recent large transactions, transfers the property to Edward C. Robbins, who holds the property in trust for the above named parties, for $100,440.

Monday a petition was presented by the company to the County Court, asking the Court to modify its order of Feb. 16, 1891, which stipulated that the company's proposed road should run west on Etzel avenue from the city limits to Sutter avenue, north on Sutter avenue to Cook avenue and west on that thoroughfare to Hanley, so that the road will run on Cook avenue only from the city limits to Hanley road. The company asks for this change on account of its being a shorter route and they can make more direct connection with the city lines. They also ask they be allowed to run horse cars insteady of using electricity for the present. The petition was laid over to next Monday. Another petition that the company presented was for an order directing the Commissioner of Roads and Bridges to make a survey of Cook avenue from the city limits to Hanley road, with a view of establishing a permanent grade. The last petition was granted and the County Surveyor ordered to make the survey.

SALES OF THE DAY.

Charles H. Gleason & Co. has sold a fifth interest in the Miller farm at the corner of the St. Charles and the Hanley roads at the rate of of $235 an acre to George D. Fisher, who also has acquired an option to purchase the remaining four-fifth interest within a short time. In view of the prospect for transportation facilities out that way in the near future, Mr. Fisher thinks he has a splendid prospect to make money out of his venture.

T. S. Noonan & Bro. report the sale of 800x180 feet of ground on the north side of Page avenue, about 400 feet west of King's highway, at $25 a foot, from the estate of T. S. Noonan, deceased, to W. L. Balson.

CARONDELET NEWS.

Trouble at a Colored Ball—South Side Notes.

The colored population residing near the Gravois Creek Bridge gave a ball and supper ast evening at the residence of Mose Phillips. The dance progressed nicely until at midnight or thereabouts, when a fracas took place between two men. One of the men, whose name was subsequently learned as Gardner, was cut on the arm and about the legs with a knife. The wounds are slight. The fight, however, broke up the mid-summer festival.

Dr. James Bribach lost a valuable horse the other day in a peculiar way. The horse was roaming on the Tenbrock farm in company with a number of other horses. One of the animals had a foot yoke on to prevent him jumping fences. In some manner that is not known this animal plunged the long stake that hangs from the yoke into the chest and heart of the animal owned by Dr. Bribach. The horse died almost instantly. The dead animal was a young horse about 4 years old and of good stock, his sire being a thoroughbred English trotter.

COLORED SOCIETY SENSATION.

Jefferson Davis May Tells of His Proposed Elopement With Mrs. Herford.

Quite a sensation in colored society circles has been created by the arrest in Pittsburg of Jefferson Davis May on the charge of stealing a gold watch and chain from a boarding-house woman of Pittsburg. It seems that from his own admissions May, who is a well educated darkey and so nearly white that he would readily pass for a Caucasian, lived happily with his wife and two children at Savannah, Ga., until he met Mrs. Ellen Herford of No. 708 North Sixteenth street, this city, while on a business visit here a few weeks ago. They fell in love with each other and planned an elopement, when he suddenly changed his mind and left the city without her, taking her diamonds, gold watch, bangs and other things of value which she had intrusted him with and which he was to raise money on in a pawnshop to cover their traveling expenses. While here, he boarded with Mrs. J. Lamb of 1211 Wood street, and the watch he stole in Pittsburg, he sent to her as pay for his board bill. Mrs. Lamb sent the watch back to Pittsburg as soon as the request for it was received from the Pittsburg police. May is 30 years old and six feet tall and was educated at a college in Jacksonville, Fla. His father is connected with the Police Department of Washington City and his mother has a clerkship in the Treasury Department, while a brother-in-law is Chief Clerk in the Old War and Navy Department at Washington.

Cogswell, who had been designated to prepare the resolutions to be presented at the State Convention. Mr. Rockwell was named Chairman of the committee. HOT-HEADED POLITICIANS.

OKLAHOMA CITY, O. T., Aug. 1.—A tragedy was averted in the Council meeting Thursday evening by the prompt action of Mayor Gault and others. J. B. George, who has a rather unsavory reputation, was recommended to fill a vacant seat in the Council, and Alderman Meachim, a big ex-Kentuckian, objected. George then slapped his face and Meachim reached for his gun. It was then the Mayor and others stepped in and averted bloodshed.

In new work there are 90 wells reported drilling, 137 rigs up and building, being an increase of 14 rigs over June, while the drilling wells were the same as for June. The feature of the month's work was the drilling in of what is said by oil men to be the largest oil well in the world. When drilled in there was an indicated capacity of 40,000 barrels a day. The well is the property of the Ohio Oil Co., and is located in Hancock County. It is shut in and only a limited quantity is taken from it daily.

AMONG THE BROKERS.

A Dull Market—Stocks Sold and Prices Obtained To-Day.

The trading on the Mining Exchange was slightly below the average in amount, the total footing up to less than $50 gross.

The largest transactions of the day were in Yuma Copper, in which the heaviest sales were made, amounting to $42.50. The market opened 41¼ bid, but soon advanced to 42½, at which 100 shares were sold. More was obtainable at this figure, but no bidders could be found. Preparations are under way to resume work as soon as the new superintendent arrives, which will probably be some time during the present month. Mr. Nicholson will not be re-employed.

In spite of efforts to revive the stock, there was no trading in Elizabeth, which declined in price. The stock was offered at $1.70, but there were no bids above $1.60.

Central Silver was somewhat stronger, 100 shares selling at 3½.

ANOTHER LADY TALKS.

She Thought Her Lungs Were Affected and Had no Hope of Being Cured.

Surprise at the Success of Drs. Copeland and Thompson's Treatment Makes Her Speak.

"I never thought I should have my name in the paper, but the result of my treatment with Drs. Copeland and Thompson has been such a surprise, both to myself and my friends, that I really feel it my duty to tell of it."

The speaker was Mrs. Caroline Libby of 2822 South Lyons street. Continuing she said:

"I had been sick and miserable with catarrh for fifteen years, but in the past five years I grew worse so rapidly, and everything failed so utterly to help me that all hope left me, and I had made up my mind there was no use trying any longer.

Mrs. Caroline Libby, 2822 South Lyons Street.

"My head and nose were clogged up and the matter dropping into my throat kept me hawking and raising all the time. My throat was sore and inflamed. Severe pains would start in the top of my head and pass down my spine.

"I had a puffed-up or bloated feeling after eating. What food I took did not digest, but lay like lead in my stomach. I had palpitation of the heart and faint, dizzy spells would come over me, leaving me so weak I could hardly stand. My sleep was broken and restless and did me no good. I would arise in the morning actually more tired than the night before.

"The past two winters I was attacked with la grippe. After the first seige a severe cough came on and remained. I was unable to get rid of it. Dull pains would take me in both lungs, so bad sometimes as to almost take my breath away.

"I was run down in strength and so weak and miserable I made up my mind last spring that the disease had GONE TO MY LUNGS.

Then was when I gave up all hope and decided there was no use doing any more.

"Soon after that I began reading of the success of Drs. Copeland and Thompson. New hope sprang up. Others in my condition were cured. Why not go myself and try their system and method of treatment?

"I did go. To-day I am a well woman. No trace of my old trouble remains. Can anyone blame me for speaking?"

Testimony From Other Ladies.

MISS EVA CHURCH, 84 St. Clair avenue, East St. Louis—I suffered from catarrh all my life, and in the last few years all the doctors said it had run into consumption. I continued under the treatment of Drs. Copeland and Thompson until I was cured. The result has been remarkable, and I have these physicians to thank for it.

MRS. LOUISE LOUDON, 2345A Clark avenue—Drs. Copeland and Thompson removed six polypi from my head without pain or hemorrhage, and afterwards relieved me of a catarrhal trouble of long standing. As successful and scientific physicians and courteous gentlemen I heartily recommend them.

MRS. CHARLES C. HENLEY, 2123 Wash st.—Drs. Copeland and Thompson's system of treatment gave me more relief in three weeks than forty doctors in many years. To me it is wonderful.

BEFORE HIS MOTHER

Dabney Alexander, a Bank Clerk, Blows Out His Brains.

HE HAD AN ATTACK OF GRIP AND THAT BROUGHT ON MELANCHOLIA.

He Had Threatened to Kill Himself if His Imaginary Troubles Did Not Cease, and a Watch Was Put on Him, but Without Avail, the Tragedy Occurring Early This Morning—Suicide of a Woman.

The home of Miller Alexander, an old and well-known citizen, at 1122 St. Ange avenue, was the scene of a dramatic and heart-rending suicide at 5:30 o'clock this morning. Dabney Alexander, 35 years of age, an employe of the State Savings Bank, was the victim of his own rash act. The young man had a severe attack of la grippe and pneumonia last November. Ever since he has suffered from a tendency to mental aberration which has been developing insidiously for the past three months. It manifested itself by frequent attacks of melancholia, during which there was a slight tendency to suicide, on the part of the sufferer. Last Wednesday evening Mr. Alexander returned home from the bank in apparently good health. After supper he sat out on the front steps joking and laughing with his sisters and some neighbors. Suddenly his pleasant manner changed, and he abruptly left the company and went upstairs. The next morning he was unwell and Dr. W. Huston Ford, the family physician, was sent for. He at once pronounced it a return of the old attack. As he had frequently intimated to his mother that he would put an end to his life if his imaginary troubles did not leave him a strict watch was kept over him, some of the family being at his bed side all the time. Last night Dr. Ford administered him a sedative and his brother Edward prepared to sit up with him all night. About 3 o'clock Mrs. Alexander awoke and relieving the watcher took her place by her son's bed side.

TRIED TO STOP HIM.

Toward daybreak the effect of the medicine wore off and the patient began to grow restless, but he quieted and spoke rationally to his mother for awhile. She left the room afterward for a few moments. As she re-entered she saw her son sitting up in the bed with something gleaming in his right hand. Realizing in an instant what he was about to do, she sprang forward and threw herself upon him, but too late, for the muzzle of the revolver was pressed against his right temple and pressing the trigger he sped the bullet through his brain. The young man fell over lifeless on the bed. The report aroused the family, and the aged mother, who maintained her composure wonderfully, sent for medical aid. Dr. Spikgelhatter of Lafayette and Missouri avenues arrived in a few minutes, but could do nothing. The bullet had passed across the head from the right temple and lodged over the left eye. Within twenty minutes after the shooting life was extinct.

BORE AN EXCELLENT REPUTATION.

Dabney Alexander is assistant corresponding clerk at the State Savings Bank, in whose employ he has been for the last twelve years. The officers of the institution give him an excellent reputation as a capable business man, with no bad habits and very devoted to his family.

The young man's death is a sad blow to his family, who are prostrated with grief. He has been their chief support since the failure of their father's eyes caused his retirement from business some years ago. The family consists of the aged father and mother, an older son than Dabney, who does not reside in St. Louis, and three grown-up daughters who teach in the public schools. The family have been residing in St. Louis for the last twenty years, having come here from Kentucky, although Virginia is their home. Mr. Dabney Alexander was insured for $1,000 in the Benevolent Association of Bank Clerks.

Louise Falke Ends Her Life.

Dr. W. E. Thompson of 2318 South Broadway, sent a certificate of death to the Coroner this morning notifying him that Louise Falke, a Swiss woman who had lived at 4129 Michigan avenue, died by her own hand yesterday. About a week ago she went to several drug stores and bought about $5 worth of a drug which she used in large quantities to hide evidences of her shame. She died of lueocythemia last night shortly after Dr. Thompson was called in, but before her death she admitted to him that she had administered the drug herself and would tell no more. Miss Falke was 36 years of age and worked as a domestic. An inquest will be held to-day.

PRESIDENT HARRISON.

He Will Celebrate His Fifty-Seventh Birthday at Mount McGregor.

CAPE MAY, Aug. 1.—Following is the intinerary of the President's coming journey to Bennington, Vt., where he is to participate in the ceremonies incident to the unveiling of the monument there. He will leave Cape May on the morning of the 17th of August, arriving in Bennington on the evening of the 18th. On the 19th the monument will be unveiled and the same evening the President will take his departure for Mount McGregor, where he will arrive on the morning of the 20th, and on that day will celebrate his fifty-seventh birthday. A dinner will be given him by Mr. W. J. Arkell. The President will remain at Mount McGregor until the 22d, when he will go to Saratoga and remain at the Grand Union for a few days. From there he will return for a few days to Bennington, where he will be the guest of Secretary Proctor, and will arrive here on Saturday, Aug. 29. The length of his stay here after his return from the North will be determined by the time that it will take to finish repairs now under way at the Executive Mansion at Washington.

CADETS WILL PARTICIPATE.

NEWBURG, N. Y., Aug. 1.—Orders from Washington are expected to reach West Point in a few days for the corps of cadets at the United States military academy to participate in the ceremonies attending the approaching dedication of the new battle monument at Bennington, Vt. The cadets are to act as an escort for the President.

CAN GET THEIR PAY.

The Consolidated Coal Co. Deny That Miners' Wages are Withheld.

A miner in the employ of the Consolidated Coal Co. of this city writes from Gillespie, Ill., that the company has not been complying with the law passed by the last Legislature of the State of Illinois compelling them to have a weekly pay day. He alleges that while the company claims the men can get their pay any time they ask for it that when they call they are informed by the clerk that it is after office hours, so that they are forced to lay off to draw their pay. At the offices of the company in this city they claim they have received no complaint and assert that the men can get their money whenever they want it. It is denied that there is any truth in the assertions made by the miner in his letter.

Where Is Miss Stinke?

George Stinke of Luxemburg, St. Louis County, appealed to the police to-day to find his wandering daughter, who left her country home four days ago and is supposed to have come to this city. She is 16 years of age and when last heard from she was living in a house on Broadway and Marion street.

M. E. GREEN of L. E. Green & Son, the popular millinery-house on Broadway and Washington avenue, leaves for New York to-night to purchase their fall and winter stock.

THE BEST ON RECORD.

THE PRESENT YEAR WILL EXCEED ALL PREDECESSORS IN WHEAT EXPORTS.

Peculiarly Favorable Situation of Affairs as Regards St. Louis—A Shortage of Lake Transportation That Will Greatly Increase This City's Trade.

As the season advances the prospects of St. Louis making the best showing on record in the shipments of grain for foreign use increase. The last factor that has to be taken into consideration is the shortage of vessels on the lake and canal routes. News has been received from Chicago, Milwaukee and Duluth to the effect that shippers are greatly embarrassed by the lack of vessels suitable for carrying grain, and that for this reason there is a drift of wheat toward the Mississippi route, and away from the New York route.

TRANSPORTATION SHORTAGE.

An unusual demand has been made upon the lake boats, owing to the fact that an extensive and severe freight car famine is now regarded as a certainty. To this the lake boats have not been able to respond, and unless there should be a diversion of shipments it is certain that there will be a most disastrous blockade in the lake ports, a blockade which the railroads will be unable materially to relieve. That this diversion will take place is, however, more than likely—in fact it has already begun to take place, as letters have been received by exporters in this city asking what facilities they had for sending grain abroad by way of the river, and promising to send consignments here in case transportation could be provided.

INVADING CHICAGO TERRITORY

Nearly all these letters come from territory that has been regarded as tributary to Chicago, or which was debatable ground between that city and St. Louis. The reply has been that here there will be no shortage of barges and that all grain that is sent can be handled. The stage of the river is considerably higher than customary at this season of the year and the barges can, therefore go out much more heavily loaded than usual. The Government work on the river has had not a little to do with this. The appropriations for river improvements have been large and special attention has been paid to removing bars, so that the requisite depth of eight feet has been secured in many places where the water was never before so deep during the latter part of the summer. This, combined with the good stage of water has largely increased the transportation facilities of St. Louis at a time when a freight car famine and a shortage of lake boats makes this of immense importance.

THE ESTIMATED EXPORTS.

In addition, the large wheat crop in this country and the failure of the European crop has caused the foreign shipments to assume an almost unprecedented importance. Just what amount of grain will be shipped abroad cannot yet be ascertained, but a comparison with former years will give a good idea of what can be shipped. During the year ending on July 1, 1891, the crop was about 400,000,000 bushels, and of this 106,000,000 bushels was exported in the form of wheat and flour. The crop for the present year is estimated at 540,000,000 bushels, so that it may be estimated that considerably over 200,000,000 bushels could be exported on the basis of domestic consumption of the preceding year. Even at this figure the shipments of this year will be the largest on record. The highest point reached before was touched in 1881, when 186,000,000 bushels were sent abroad. For the last seven years the average value of the annual exports of wheat and flour have been $108,000,000. At prices ruling this year the value will be $200,000,000. On this basis the present crop would yield to farmers, carriers, millers and handlers a total result of $540,000,000 against $372,800,000 as the value of last years crop. Of this, St. Louis, owing to its better handling facilities, will gain much more than its proportional increase.

THE FINANCIAL STATUS.

Another encouraging feature is that owing to the situation in Wall street money for moving the crops will be far easier than had been anticipated. The New York stock market is exceedingly inactive, owing to the uncertainty as to the course of the European farmers, and to the effect that the drain of gold that is certain to follow the shipment of the large wheat crop will have on the foreign markets. Many believe that this will necessitate the sale of a large number of American securities, and a consequent disturbance of the American market. There are very few contracts outstanding, and dealers are generally confined to room trading. This state of affairs has caused the demand for money in New York to be less than usual, and is operating very favorably on the crop movement.

HAS NOT BEEN ABANDONED.

The St. Louis Brewing Association Will Complete the New Plant.

The action of the St. Louis Brewing Association in suspending work on the new brewery, at Compton avenue and Manchester road, has given rise to the report that the managers of the English syndicate property have abandoned the idea of building a mammoth structure to take the place of the Excelsior Brewery, which has been sold to the Union Depot Co. When the Excelsior plant at Eighteenth and Market streets wat sold to the depot company the association purchased a block of ground on Compton avenue and had plans prepared for the new building. The contract for the foundations was let at once and the work was rushed through in a manner that led to the belief that the new establishment would soon be in full operation. When the foundations of the main building were finished the work suddenly stopped and nothing has been done since.

President Ellis Wainwright of the association said to-day that the work had not been abandoned. "It has simply been stopped for the present," he said, "and will be resumed when we deem it necessary. We find that the Winklemeyer brewery can supply its own and the Excelsior's territory for the present, and we accordingly concluded not to resort to any great hurry to get the new plant in motion. We hold the property still and we will not sell it. I expect to see operations resumed not later than a year hence."

Call for Educators.

SANTA FE, N. M., Aug. 1.—There is no better place under the sun for schoolma'ams than New Mexico at the present time. There is room for at least 300 more, at good wages. This situation has just been revealed by the examinations of teachers which are in progress in the various counties. Not one-third the number required have presented themselves for certificates.

THE WORLD'S FAIR.

Preparations of New Mexico and Arizona for a Fine Exhibit.

This morning W. A. Cartwright of Santa Fe passed through the city on his way to Washington. Mr. Cartwright is one of those intrusted with preparing the exhibit for the World's Fair to be sent by New Mexico, and is also an honorary member of the Arizona board. "We of the Southwestern territories," he said, "will make a display at the World's Fair that will astonish even our own people. We have been represented at various international exhibitions, but heretofore have attracted little attention because the exibits were not well organized. We used to go in for showing what we could do in certain lines of manufacture. We could make a creditable showing considering our conditions, but none cared to see what could be done far better elsewhere. It was like an exhibition of paintings by bright school children in a gallery where the best masters had their paintings hung. In Chicago we intend to show our products and but few of our manufactures. As regards copper New Mexico and Arizona will join hands. Now that the stock accumulated by the great French syndicate is about exhausted, our copper fields will once more have a chance, and we are not afraid of any American competition, as our ores are much more cheaply reducible than those of the Lake Superior region. The quantity is practically unlimited, and all we want to develop the mines is capital for improved machinery. The higher price of silver has done much for our mines, which are nearly all of low grade, with great ore-producing capacity. But the principal advance that has been made is in the character of our New Mexican wool. An almost perfect climate for wool growing we always had, but we're cursed with the Mexican sheep. This animal only yields about three pounds of inferior wool, and is hopelessly addicted to the scab. This disease has little effect on the tough, wiry brute, but it entirely prevented Merinos from being run with them. We tried to replace the low grade sheep gradually, but this did not work at all, and lately the old time policy has been adopted to get rid entirely of the Mexican sheep and substitute Merinos. At the World's Fair we will make an exhibit which will prove that New Mexico is the best sheep range in this country."

LES MISERABLES.

Cases Which Came Up in the Second District Police Court.

Judge Paxson had a light docket in the Second District Police Court this morning.

Pat Walsh, a professional wife-beater, was before the court on his old charge. Officers Thompson and Sheehan were called to 1507 Biddle street yesterday and found Mrs. Walsh bleeding from several cuts in the face and her clothes almost torn off. Pat told the court that it was necessary to use a little violence to hold the woman down. He said she had the falling sickness and when the fit was on her she got very strong. He could not explain why she was bleeding, or why he kicked her in the neck, or why he attempted to strike Officer Sheehan with an iron bar. Judge Paxon fined him $100.

Henry and John Morburger, two brothers, had a fight last night near Blair avenue and Clinton street. Henry is a loafer and comes home drunk and invites his brother out to fight. Mrs. Morburger told the court it would be better to send the boy to the Work-house than to have him loafing the streets. He was finded $25.

Bridget Corbett of 2017 O'Fallon street had Mary Wilson up for disturbing her peace. This is not the first time Mrs. Corbett has had her neighbors in court. She accused Mrs. Wilson of throwing slop and brick bats at her and calling her foul names. Mrs. Wilson declared she had said neither yes, I, or no to her yesterday. She got $10 and costs.

Lizzie Clark was found lying down in a doorway at Seventh street and Franklin avenue yesterday. She explained to the court she had drunk Belcher's water and as it did not agree with her she put a little Jamaica ginger and beer on top. The mixture broke her all up. She was fined $15.

Mrs. Boske of 1943 St. Louis avenue got tired of having Wm. Fitzgerald come around to beg money to bury his little girl. The child has been burying for the last six months. He was fined $25.

Rosie Lee, a fallen specimen of humanity, has been living with negroes at 710 North Tenth street. Her conduct has not been above suspicion. She was fined $20.

TROUBLES OF THE BUTTWEILERS.

The Couple Now Nagging Each Other in the Justices' Courts.

Mr. and Mrs. Buttweiler are making lots of fun for the courts and plenty of trouble for each other. Some time ago they tried to get a divorce in the Circuit Court, but the order was refused, and Mr. Buttweiler was condemed to pay $25 a month toward the support of his wife and child.

Then Mr. Buttweiler replevined the furniture which his wife took off with her when the household broke up. The Constable in Justice Hart's court carried out Mr. Buttweller's spite work act. But the wife had her innings and made a timely hit, too.

She took out a writ of replevin in Byron's court for a gold watch which the husband had. Constable Denehy served the writ, but Mr. Buttweiler would not surrender—the Constable would have to walk over his dead body before he would get that watch. The Constable got the watch, however, without indulging in this tragic promenade. The case was set for trial, but the husband took a change of venue to Justice Spaulding's court and the case is set for Aug. 8.

BAFFLED PHYSICIANS.

The Unexplained Deaths of Two Children at Barre, Vt.

BARRE, Vt., Aug. 1.—There is much excitement in town over the unexplained deaths of two young daughters of Jeremiah McCarthy. One was taken ill Tuesday and died in a few hours and was followed Wednesday by her sister. The mother and another sister are very ill, having the same symptoms as in the cases of the dead children and six local physicians who have been called in, confess themselves baffled. Another family living in the same house are unaffected.

Wrecked Her Home.

Mrs. C. L. Perry of Erie, Pa., has written a pitiful letter to Chief Harrigan asking him to arrest and punish a man named T. Benton, whom she said has wrecked her home and is now supposed to be living in this city. Last winter she was keeping a boarding-house in Erie, but failing to make it pay she looked about for something to do and saw T. Benton wanted a housekeeper at El Paso. He was in Erie at the time and she called on him. He said he was a wealthy ranch owner and if she would sell out her household effects he would take her and her 5-year-old boy with him to El Paso. She sold out at a great sacrifice and entrusted her valuables and what few household goods she retained to his care. He sold them to a second-hand dealer and left town. Mrs. Perry says she is now without funds or goods, and does not know what to do. Benton, she says, is an imposter, and by his false promises has wrecked her home. She wants the police to arrest him if he is found here and make him repair the wrong he has done.

DEFRAUDED A WIDOW.

SERIOUS CHARGES AGAINST HENRY G. WYNNE OF NEW YORK.

The Accused a Son-in-Law of the Late Gov. M'Enery of Louisiana—Mrs. Harriet Eads Gave Him $1,000 to Invest in Mythical Coal Lands.

NEW YORK, Aug. 1.—Henry G. Wynne, husband of Jenny McEnry, youngest daughter of the late Gov. McEnry of Louisiana, according to a morning paper, is earnestly sought by Sheriff Gorman on a charge of swindling preferred by Mrs. Harriet Eads of this city. Mrs. Eads made the acquaintance of Wynne several months ago at the Starling Hotel, this city. He presented credentials of the highest character and assured her he was the son of "Admiral Wynne" of the Confederate Navy. He told her that he was chief engineer of the Chesapeake, Fredericksburg & Western Railroad and that during the preliminary surveys he had discovered near Luray, W. Va., an immense coal field, where the coal could be quarried from the surface at comparatively little cost. The ground on which it lay, he said, belonged to a New York man, who was entirely ignorant of its value. It lay forty miles from any of the exporting railroads, but the new road would approach it within a short distance. He said he could get the option of several hundred acres of land for $900, and if she would put $1,000 in his hands he would secure the title to it for her. After the railroad was completed he would open up the mines and she would become very wealthy. Mrs. Eads immediately placed $1,000 in Wynne's hands to invest for her in the coal lands. He gave her an unsecured note as a pledge, and requested that she say nothing about the investment until he could secure the deed to the land, because the owner of the land might raise the price. For several days Mrs. Eads kept her promise, but her good luck so overjoyed her that one day she said to Dr. House: "I've invested $1,000 where it will bring me enormous earnings."

THE SECRET OUT.

Knowing her weakness for investments with "large gains" the doctor persuaded her to tell him how she had invested the money. She showed Wynne's note. The doctor laughed at her, told her she had been fooled again and advised her to get her money back as quickly as possible. Becoming frightened she hastened to Mr. J. Howard Clapp's office and told him of her investment. He at once went to Wynne, who was then with the Novelty Iron Building Co., No. 38 Wall street, of which Mr. Townsend Percy is President, and demanded Mrs. Eads' money. Wynne said he did not have it and admitted that he had not invested it as he had promised Mrs. Eads, but had put it into another concern. Mr. Clark then found that the Chesapeake, Fredericksburg & Western Railroad, likewise the lands near Luray, were pure myths, and never had any existence except in Wynne's mind. He also found that the scheme in which Wynne said he had invested the money was also a myth. He accused Wynne of swindling his client, and Wynne asked if a settlement could not be made. Efforts were then made through Silas Stillwell, a lawyer, to effect a settlement. Wynne had been employed by Buffalo Bill and Nate Saulsbury as an engineer and architect to erect the grand stand for the American Amusement Syndicate Co. when the Wild West show was in Paris. While the work was going on Rosa Bonheur came to make sketches of the herd of bison. Wynne drove the animals into the field and showed her a number of little courtesies. Before he left Paris Col. Cody sent him to her with a pair of mustang ponies as a present, and she presented him with a large painting, her original study of the bison, representing a large bison standing on the open prairie.

TRYING TO SETTLE.

The picture was all finished except the background. He took the painting to London, where it was on exhibittion until last April, when he brought it to this city and placed it on exhibition at Knoedler's art rooms. Wynne offered Mrs. Eads a lien on this picture. The papers were all drawn up and about to be signed when Dawson & Harney, her lawyers, discovered that a man named Vermuele had a a lien of $1,500 on the picture and that Silas Stillwell, the lawyer, had the second lien of $500, practically covering the full value of the painting. Wynne and his wife disappeared and it was given out they had gone to Georgia. It was learned yesterday that Wynne had not gone to Georgia, but is working for the Bellport Construction Co. of No. 54 Broadway, in a cigar factory at Bellport, L. I. He is boarding, with his wife, at a hotel at that place. The company who employ him are allied to the Boynton Bicycle Railway Co., and to the Brooklyn Investment & Improvement Co. They were totally ignorant of the man's character, but said that his contract with them was not a long one, and that he did not occupy a position of responsibility. Dawson & Harney, Mrs. Eads' lawyers, have taken means to have Wynne apprehended and if possible will cause his arrest.

Deaf-mute Sunday falls on the 16th of August this year. It is thus known on account of its Gospel, St. Mark, vii, 32-35, which mentions the healing of the deaf man by our Saviour. It is a custom on that day to take up offerings in the churches toward the expense of missionary work among the deaf mutes. This important work was begun July 1, 1875, by Rev. Austin W. Mann, and has grown to large proportions. Dr. Mann's headquarters are at 123 Arlington street, Cleveland, O.

A POSTAL CLERK'S LUCK.

Heir to an Estate in Maine Valued at $3,000,000.

MERIDEN, Conn., Aug. 1.—Frank G. Waterman and his sister, Hattie Waterman of this city, are two of a number of heirs to an estate valued at $3,000,000, located in Portland, Me. About a hundred years ago a man named Skillings owned a large tract of land in the town of Portland, part of which he leased for ninety-nine years. The lease expired last April, and parties who were seeking a location for a soldier's monument, in investigating the title, discovered that it was still owned by the Skillings estate. The late Mrs. Waterman was a granddaughter of Mr. Skillings and the mother of Frank and Hattie Waterson. Frank is a postal clerk.

JUDGE CLAIBORNE couldn't find a better way of letting himself down easy than by resigning.

BAR HARBOR does not appear on the itinerary of the President's projected visit to New England.

THE fish may object to Judge CLAIBORNE's determination to go fishing, but Justice is in luck.

WANAMAKER and RAUM seem to be the only original Harrison office-holders who do not want to resign.

THE void left by Mr. QUAY in the Republican councils will be much harder to fill than the one he left in the Pennsylvania Treasury.

IF a judge can distinguish between old friend and old foe from his seat upon the bench, he lacks the first qualification for his position.

AMERICAN laborers were skilful enough to make tin plate and tin boxes for Republican conventions; why can they not make them for the general market?

IT is a curious fact that the most clamorous claims of purity and character in journalism are made by the newspapers which don't get the news till the day after.

THE President is smashing the anti-Harrison combine by yielding all its demands in the shape of offices. If he puts CLARKSON in the Cabinet the demolition will be complete.

THE Globe-Democrat remarks: "The great religious daily is the greatest reservoir for the facts of current history to be found in this country." Abattoir would be more accurate in view of recent events.

THE President's orders are dated "Executive Mansion, Cape May Point, N. J." It is easy to maintain the fiction that the White House is where the President just now is, but what is worrying the President just now is to maintain the condition that Mr. HARRISON will continue to be where the White House is.

ST. LOUISANS have borne much from impudent rascality, but we do not believe that they will much longer stand a condition of the administration of criminal law under which gamblers and blacklegs violate the laws and are at liberty to ply their vicious occupation with security from punishment. The pool-sellers, the lottery venders and their protectors have about tried the patience of the people to the utmost limit of endurance.

ACCORDING to the latest census bulletin there are 73,045 paupers in the United States, 12,300 being in New York. According to the returns of State authorities there are 125,000 paupers in New York, or 52,000 more than PORTER finds in the whole country. Charity is in place here perhaps, and charity suggests that the officials used different classifications. But charity is not big enough to cover a sin of omission like this. Mr. PORTER can no doubt explain this blunder, but he cannot excuse it.

THE Republican organs put it that the Ohio Democrats prefer to tax the incomes of American citizens rather than to impose a tax upon the products that foreigners send to this country. This method of stating the case may deceive a few unthinking persons, but people of intelligence know that the tax upon incomes would be chiefly paid out of the superfluity of rich Americans who have reaped fortunes out of governmental favors, whereas the tax upon foreign products sent to this country is paid by the American people, rich and poor, but chiefly by the poor, who consume them.

WORKMEN GET THE TAX.

The labor situation in the tin-plate industry is furnishing American workmen a most excellent and instructive demonstration of the fallacy that the protective policy is beneficial to them or to anyone except the favored manufacturers, for whose profit it is imposed upon the country.

The workmen were asked to vote for protection and labor for the adoption of the tin-plate tariff, on the ground that it would enlarge their opportunities to obtain employment at good wages. Now that increased protection has been secured and the tax on tin-plate has been imposed the home workmen are at the mercy of the manufacturers, who dismiss them at the first question of wages and coolly announce that they can and will obtain plenty of laborers from abroad to do the work on their own terms.

Thus, whilst the manufacturers enjoy increased profits from the high prices which the tariff enables them to charge, and from the employment of cheap imported labor, the American workmen, who have been deluded into giving aid to their selfish purposes, get nothing except a tax on their dinner-pails.

It should not take many object lessons of this sort to open the eyes of the workingmen to the falseness of protective arguments and promises.

IN his North American Review article on "Pensions and Patriotism," Commissioner RAUM holds the position that patriotism can be fostered by a generous, substantial recognition of military service. But he does not produce anything but tearful assertions to sustain it. The fact is, few soldiers had a thought of money reward when they shouldered their muskets and went out to fight for their country. They performed a service which will be remembered with gratitude, but which cannot be paid for with gold. Their patriotism was not fed with hopes of largesses. The Republican leaders talk loudly of paying for patriotism, but at the same time pursue a policy which is fast convincing the public that their profession of gratitude to the soldier is only one of the false pretenses under which higher taxes are laid on the masses for the benefit of plutocrats. Such a policy represses the patriotism of millions whom it oppresses.

THE McKinleyites are making much over the fact that there has been a large increase of imports within the last nine months, and cite it as an answer to the Democratic prediction that the McKinley law would cut down imports. The McKinley law certainly increased imports within the past nine months, but the increased importing was done in anticipation of the law, no part of which went into effect until April 1, and some provisions of which have not yet gone into effect. There has been, for instance, a big increase in the importations of tin-plate, but not under the McKinley tariff. It was imported under the old tariff to be sold under the prices created by the new tariff.

INSTEAD of accepting the denial of President HARRISON and other high Republican officials that Secretary Noble has resigned, the Globe-Democrat endeavors to support the canard which it published yesterday by vague hints that the true state of the case is being concealed. It is surprising to find a newspaper which makes pretense of great prudence and accuracy indulging in the reckless publication of false rumors concerning the administration of its own party, and it is more surprising to find it practically accusing the party's highest representatives of falsehood by insisting upon the truth of these rumors after they have been authoritatively denied.

THE War Office official who said that unreasoning compliance with unreasonable orders could no longer be expected of the quasi-educated English soldier might have added that the remedy for military mutinies was the discontinuance of unreasonable orders. Men cannot be turned into machines, particularly when they have a "quasi education," which is a very dangerous thing. They cannot help thinking, and when their officers make fools of themselves, as British officers sometimes do, it is only natural for Tommy Atkins to express himself plainly. Quasi education is not bad, especially when it is the only kind available.

THE question which will be discussed as long as heresy trials abound—whether a priest is justifiable in occupying the pulpit of a church whose doctrines he does not approve—is being discussed in the Eastern papers with considerable warmth. That honest men may differ on such a question is shown by the fact that such clergymen do hold to their pulpits and do not lack defenders. The question is rather one of casuistry than of practical morality, and if after settling it with his own conscience the offending clergyman cannot pacify his own congregation also, the sensible thing for him to do is either to avoid offending their consciences or to give up his pulpit and salary.

THE injunction suits about to be instituted to test the constitutionality of the convict leasing and sub-leasing in Tennessee, will not ward off the troubles that will follow a refusal of the Tennessee Legislature to abolish the system. About all the forbearance that can be expected from those mountaineer miners will be exhausted when the called session decides that the system shall be sustained at any cost of blood and treasure. It will cost more than a new penitentiary and more than the State can derive from convict leases in ten years to suppress the resistance.

Wages and Duties.

From the New York WORLD.

Every wage-earner in the country ought to read Mr. Horace G. Wadlin's latest report of the Massachusetts Bureau of Statistics and Labor. It is a complete answer to the great army of protectionists who insist that the cost of labor is the chief cost of products of our manufactures, and that the tariff taxes are levied for the benefit of the wage-earner.

This report shows that the wages of unprotected labor in Massachusetts constitute 26 per cent of the cost of production, and the cost of protected materials 68 per cent. Probably if materials were made free, and therefore their cost was reduced, the employer would give more to his workingmen.

Wages constitute 22 per cent of the price, and material 59 per cent, and yet the average rate of duty under the McKinley tariff is 60 per cent, and most of that tax is added to the price of the domestic article. In order to be eminently fair, let us assume that 50 per cent is added to the price. It is evident that the workingman is far from receiving the benefit of the tariff imposed by the McKinley act, and that the allegation that it was passed for the sole profit of the American workingman is shown to be false.

FEAR OF FAILURE.

The Pool Room Mandamus Writ May Not Be Asked.

JUDGE VALLIANT'S SCRUPLES MAY ASSIST THE BOOKMAKERS.

A Bookmaker Sues the South Side Park for Heavy Damages—A Peculiar Statement About the Betting There, and a Threat to Close the Race Track by General Prosecutions.

The chances seem to-day that the Pool alley bookmakers will be able to keep up their business until the Supreme Court gets to the writ of error asked for by Prosecutor B. Dierkes and State's Attorney T.B. Harvey. The success of the plan of mandamus upon the Police Board which Attorney Harvey yesterday proposed rested upon two contingencies. The Police Board had to consent to order Police Chief Harrigan to cease enforcing the law, a direction which, under the circumstances might reasonably be considered rather absurd, and excusable only by reason of the object to be accomplished, and after that the Circuit Court had to remain in session and hear the mandamus proceedings. It is conceded all the Police Commissioners would be quite willing to help Attorney Harvey execute his plan in place of the protest of Attorney Chester H. Krum, based on the ground that the Board would be making itself ridiculous by ordering the Chief of Police to enforce a law of the State. Attorney Krum has sent a letter to the board presenting this view of the case, and objecting to the attempt of Attorney Harvey to use the board in this way.

MR. KRUM INCONSISTENT.

Attorney Harvey read the letter to-day, and asserted that the letter was unreasonable. "Mr. Krum claims that the law is unconstitutional," said he. "How he can object to the board's ordering the Chief not to enforce an unconstitutional law I don't see. However, that's not the point. What we want the board to do is merely to put upon the record the fact that the law is not being enforced because it is not constitutional. Upon that statement we go to the Circuit Court."

So far, the plan is good, but Attorney Harvey next must provide a Circuit Court in which to hear the mandamus proceedings.

JUDGE VALLIANT TALKS.

The Court of Judge Valliant is the only one available, all the others having adjourned. Attorney Harvey said this morning that he hoped to be able to prevail upon the Judge to adjourn his Court from time to time until the mandamus proceedings could be heard and the case disposed of, one way or the other. Upon this hope depended his expectation of being able to close the pool-rooms before the end of August, as Judge Valliant, it is thought, would declare the law constitutional and order the Police Board to enforce it. The Judge is in very poor health, and for some time has been anxious to close his court, in order that he might obtain the rest which his physician declared was absolutely necessary for him if he wanted to resume his work in the court-room next fall with a healthy body and a clear mind. The Judge plainly indicated reluctance to keep open his court on account of the pool case, while talking to a reporter to-day before he went upon the bench. "If the case was before me," said he, "I should, of course, try it, no matter if I had to sit on the bench all summer, but it is not. I have heard nothing of any mandamus proceedings, except in the newspapers, which of course I cannot take as reason sufficient to justify me in keeping open court after I have disposed of all the business on the docket.

IT WOULD BE IMPROPER.

"If I were to keep my court open and sit here waiting for the appearance of an application for a mandamus writ it would look very much like a kind of bargaining, and it would be an impropriety of which I wouldn't be guilty. It is possible that the work I have on hand now may keep the court in session longer than I anticipate, but I shall adjourn when that is at an end, without regard to any future litigation hinted at."

MUST WAIT TILL OCTOBER.

The adjournment of the court, consequently, will leave the State's Attorney in the lurch, as the only object of the mandamus proceedings was to obtain a weapon to use at once on the pool rools. If the court adjourns it will be useless to ask the Police Board to instruct Chief Harrigan as to the enforcement of the law. The Supreme Court would get to the writ of error as quickly as the mandamus proceedings could be heard. That time will be about the third week in September, and a decision can hardly be obtained before October. Until then it seems that the pool men are safe.

THAT MISFIT TITLE.

In the gossip of lawyers about the case in the lobbies of the courts to-day an interesting little story was told about the way in which the pool bill came to have the title that has been the cause of all the trouble affixed to it. When the first bill was introduced by Senator E. G. Stone the people in St. Louis who were interested in having that bill killed got ex-Judge George A. Madill to draft a copy of the Tennessee law regulating pool-selling, and sent ex-Judge R. A. Crawford up to Jefferson City to use his influence among the legislators to substitute the second bill for the first prohibitory one. The bill, as prepared by Judge Madill, was telegraphed to Judge Campbell from St. Louis, the title of the first bill was hastily clapped on the second one without careful consideration, and the measure was introduced.

BOOKMAKER MAY'S REVENGE.

He Sues the South Side Track for $25,000 Damages.

J. A. May, the well-known bookmaker, who has been selling pools on the South Side track, was brought up before Judge Morris to-day in the First District Police Court, charged with disturbing the peace. Sam Adler, President of the track association, was put on the stand and after he had given his evidence, Judge Morris discharged the bookmaker, holding that no case had been made against him. Chester H. Krum went into the Police Court to defend May, and at the end of the trial went at once to his office and prepared a petition which he filed this afternoon, asking for the bookmaker $25,000 damages from the track association for malicious arrest.

TROUBLE FOR THE DIRECTORS.

Bookmaker May says he will make it hot for the association and all its directors. "I came down here from Chicago, where I was doing a good business, to give tone to their trade, at their own invitation," said he to-day, as he started for the Circuit Court with Attorney Krum. "When I got here the first thing one of the managers said to me was, 'I don't propose to let any bookmakers own this trade.' I said he was mistaken if he thought that about bookmakers. All they wanted was to keep out of trouble and pull in their money. I started in, and pretty soon the other men out there making books got jealous of me. I was giving big odds, and the money all came to me. I would offer 3 to 1 on a horse when they would be giving only 6 to 5. Those fellows don't know how to make books, anyway. They were all a lot of craps-shooters and bootblacks, and they eyed my board like a hawk to see when to rub. They got sick of seeing me making money, and they went to Al Spink and said if I didn't quit they would. Al came to me and said I must go. They couldn't afford to lose all their bookmakers for the sake of me.

GAVE TOO LIBERAL ODDS.

"I told him it wasn't a square way to treat me. If the other bookmakers thought they could stand only 6 to 5 when I was giving 3 to 1, why didn't they come over to my book and bet me down? I'd make them weaken quick enough if they offered 3 to 1 on a 6 to 5 horse. Spink said I'd have to go anyway if I didn't come down and offer the same odds that the rest of the fellows did. I then offered to buy all the privileges and pay him $60 a day for each of the others if he would let them go, but he wouldn't have that. I found out afterwards the reason for that. One of the men connected with the track, a man who's acted as judge on the races, was backing one of the books out there, Tommy Burke's book. This bookmaker told me that one of the officials came to him and told him that they were going to put me off the track, and he advised them not to do it. That's a nice thing for a track, ain't it?—a man running a book and deciding races, too. Well, before this last talk I had with Spink I had bought three days' privileges, and I told him I was going to stick up for my rights. So yesterday they wouldn't let me get up on the block, and I had to go inside and sell tickets. They came to me and asked me to go out, and when I refused they had me arrested.

PROSECUTIONS FOR THE BOOKMAKERS.

"I'm going to break up the track before I am through with them now," said Bookmaker May, curling his natty black mustache with his fingers. "Sam Adler's got money, and I'm going to make him suffer. And I've got money too. I'm going out to the track every day, buy a ticket, go in and bet in every book. If I win, all right, I'll collect the money. If I lose I'll go in court and prosecute 'em under the gambling law—plead the baby act."

War Between the Bookmakers.

War between the little and big bookmakers in and about Pool alley has again broke out. The opening of a 50-cent book in the alley, in the old Horse Shoe Exchange, has resulted in Furber locking up the wire gate between his place and the alley, so that gamblers once in his rooms can't get into the alley without going around the block.

THE G. A. R.

Detroit in Full Bloom for the Twenty-Fifth Annual Reunion.

DETROIT, Mich., Aug. 1.—To-day Detroit is already in full bloom for the twenty-fifth reunion of the G. A. R., the triumphal arches, the decoration of public buildings and of business houses excelling in artistic beauty, variety and extent any similar preparations in honor of the veterans. This is the verdict of all the past commanders who have attended all of the reunions of the army. Not only in the matter of decorations is the city prepared for all grand stands, all arrangements for medical and hospital services, all camps and all headquarters preparations are completed and they are perfect in appointments. Department headquarters by States will be located as follows: Arkansas, Connecticut, Illinois, Indiana, Kentucky, Maine, Ohio, Texas, West Virginia, Wisconsin and District of Columbia at the Russell House.

California, Iowa, Massachusetts, Michigan, New Hampshire, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, South Dakota, Vermont and the Women's Relief Corps at the Hotel Cadillac. Commander Veasey and staff will also have their headquarters at the Hotel Cadillac.

Kansas, Minnesota, Missouri, Nebraska and Sons of Veterans at the Hotel Normandie.

Loyal Legion at the Detroit Light Infantry Armory, New York, at Perkin's Hotel.

New Jersey at House of the Alger Club and Georgia at No. 38 Clifford street.

To date the Registration Committee have received notices from over 300 regimental organizations, representing forty-five of the States and Territories, that they will be present, and quarters have been assigned to all persons and organizations who have applied. All branches of service in the armies of 1861-'65 will be represented, and what is most uncommon, every one of the divisions in all the armies of the North will be represented.

Already five general camps have been established, accommodations having been assigned to over thirty thousand individuals and yet the resources of the committee on accommodations are by no means exhausted. It is expected that by Monday evening over 40,000 veterans will have been provided for, while it is known by official canvass that at least half as many more will be the guests of citizens, making no demand on the citizens' committee. An idea of the probable attendance of veterans may be gained from the fact that Michigan will send 188 posts. New York, 34; Ohio, 47; Illinois, 28; Massachusetts, 14; Pennsylvania, 12. Maine, 4; California, 4; Washington and Oregon, 2; Kentucky, 4; Wisconsin, 9 and so on from all over the country.

THE KANSAS POSTS.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Aug. 1.—The Star's Topeka (Kan.) special says: Gen. Tim McCarthy, Commander-in Chief of the Grand Army of Kansas, accompanied by his staff and the Grand Army Posts of the city, left on the Santa Fe at 4 o'clock this afternoon for Detroit to attend the National Encampment. The Woman's Relief Corps go by the Rock Island. It is said on account of the delay in announcing the railroad rates Kansas will have the smallest delegation at the National Encampment.

THE NEW ENGLAND VETERANS.

BOSTON, Mass., Aug. 1.—The coming twenty-four hours will witness the passage through Vermont of an army of Union veterans from New England States, en route to the National Encampment of the G. A. R. at Detroit. The veterans from the Departments of Massachusetts, New Hampshire and Maine will enter Vermont on special trains over the Fitchburg and Boston & Maine roads. There will be nine special trains, made up of fifty Wagner sleepers and also extra passenger coaches, which are scheduled to be delivered to the Central Vermont road at Bellows Falls and Swanton. The trains will go via the Central Vermont to Montreal and from there to Detroit over the Grand Trunk road, via Niagara Falls.

IN A BURNING MINE.

A Venturesome Miner—British Steamer Afire—Badly Damaged.

REPUBLIC, Mich., Aug. 1.—A venturesome miner, clad in complete suit of diver's armor, went into the burning Republic mine yesterday. He fought the flames with a small hose sufficiently to make his way into the mine for some distance. He found that the fire was burning down to the sixth level. The damage so far done will reach nearly $250,000, and no limit can be set to what may yet be done.

AN INCENDIARY BLAZE.

CASEY, Ill., Aug. 1.—Word has been received that fire at Westfield, in this county, destroyed the two largest brick buildings of the place, which were occupied by M. T. Owen, dealer in general merchandise. In the upper story were located the Masonic and Odd-Fellows' halls. The contents of the entire buildings were lost. ROYAL'S CHARGES.

Justice Hart and Constable Byrne Accused of Official Corruption.

ALLEGED CONSPIRACY TO FLEECE THE PROPRIETORS OF A CIRCUS.

The Charge Made That Justice Hart Offered to Decide Suits in Their Favor for $500—The Depositions of Harry Royal and Millie Marretta—Some Queer Proceedings.

Depositions were taken to-day in the suit of T. F. Fanning and Millie Marretta, the former owners of the Great Pacific Shows, against Justice William J. Hart, Constable John J. Byrne, Deputy John Hyde, George Pfarrar and Jake Gerst at the office of the plaintiffs' attorney, Michael Kinealy, 506 Olive street.

The testimony taken together with the petition filed makes very serious allegations against the defendants. It will be remembered that about June 29 two employes of the show, then exhibiting on Easton avenue, filed attachments for salaries. Immediately after twenty-seven other employes brought suit and Justice Hart issued executions which Byrne served, after which men were set to watch the property. The suits were set for July 13, and a trial case was decided in favor of the plaintiffs.

HARRY ROYAL'S DEPOSITION.

Harry Royal, a friend of Fanning, swore in his deposition to-day that he tried to make a compromise in order that the property might be released and taken upon the road. He testified that about July 1 a proposition was made to him that in consideration of $500 Hart would decide the cases in favor of Fanning. The money was to be deposited with a certain Harrison in advance, to be paid over when the decision was made. This offer was made in the little side office at Hart's court. Royal refused to entertain the offer and judgment was given against them.

The plaintiffs in the present suit further allege that Byron and his minions conspired to accept no appeal bond from them. They were strangers and had some difficulty in procuring bondsmen. On July 22 they proposed as bondsmen John C. King and Robert S. MacDonald, who have property said to be worth $250,000, but they were not accepted. They then feared some trickery, and asked the watchmen if a sale was intended. The watchmen said no, but the very next day the constables and Pfarrar, according to the petition of the plaintiffs, came over to where the property was located and sold some of it to Gerst and others who immediately took it out of the State.

OTHER CHARGES.

The plaintiffs in the present suit also charge that Byrne and Hyde urged the men on to take out attachments. "We'll get you your money," they said. The petition also states that it was a part of the conspiracy to fix the costs at $800. This was an easy task when fees for twenty-seven suits, watchmen's fees, etc., are counted up. It is claimed also that after the costs of court were satisfied, some of the defendants in the present suit were to get assignment papers from the attaches of the circus. They counted on making considerable money out of this, because the men would let go at a sacrifice.

Lawyer F. A. McManus represented the plaintiffs in the attachment suits and is also attorney for Hart and the other defendants in the present suit, but he is exonerated from all connection with the alleged conspiracy. In fact, he knew nothing of the offer of $500 until Royal told him of it. He was present at to-day's proceedings, but objected to them in toto and would not cross-examine the witnesses.

The plaintiffs are especially emphatic about the bond feature of the case. They state that Hart's representative told them that the men's bond was no good, and urged this as a motive for accepting the offer, and yet Hart, they say, ignored their good bond.

The company intended to go on the road again, but the property has been scattered far and wide by the sale, and is now, they claim, in the hands of innocent parties to a great extent. They style the entire proceeding as a deeply laid conspiracy.

Millie Marretta, one of the circus performers, is on the stand this afternoon.

JUDGE HART'S DENIAL.

Judge Hart denies the charges made by Royal and says they are without any foundation in fact. He says he is of the opinion that Royal's story about the proposition made to him to secure a decision in his favor is a base fabrication, but that if any such proposition was made it certainly did not emanate from him. This is the first time that Judge Hart's official integrity has been called into question, and unless Royal thoroughly substantiate his charges they will not obtain much credit.

THE "BIG FOUR" WIN.

Terms of Settlement Between the Packers and Stock Yards Co.

CHICAGO, Ill., Aug. 1.—A dispatch from Boston announces the Chicago Stock Yards Co. and Packers Messrs. Armour, Morris and Swift have affected a settlement. The company agrees to pay $500,000 for the Central Stock Yard property in Chicago, recently opened by the packers, half in cash and half a mortgage, pending law suits to be abandoned; to give $500,000 in common stock to be held by the packers for five years for 1,000 acres of the packers' land at Tolleston, Ind., to guarantee principal and interest at 5 per cent on $2,000,000 fifteen-year bonds of the Tolleston Stock Yards Co., with a sinking fund attached. These are given to the packers above named, who covenant perpetually to remain at Chicago or go to Tolleston when the time comes. Each of the three guarantees the other, and also guarantees that their united business will net $2,000,000 the next five years. The packers promise to use the proceeds of the bonds in improving the Tolleston property so that the Chicago Stock Yards Co. shall get the benefit. The facts as stated were confirmed by the attorney for the stock yards company in this city, who added that the big packers had obliged themselves perpetually not to establish rival yards and that the stock yards company had made concessions to them as to yardage rates, etc. It is admitted that the big packers have scored a substantial victory. It is not believed that the smaller packers will reap any benefit from the transactions.

WANTS BIG DAMAGES.

Mrs. Mitchell Sues Frank W. Sharon for $100,000 for Slander.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Aug. 1.—Frederick W. Sharon has had suit brought against him by Mrs. Sarah Mitchell, who claims $100,000 for slander. The alleged slander consists in certain words used in a published interview with Mr. Sharon, in which he was quoted as saying he considered Mrs. Mitchell "a blackmailer, pure and simple," for having tried to obtain money from the Sharon estate for the suppression of letters sent by the late Charles L. Livingstone, which relate to the estate. When Livingstone, who was formerly manager of the Palace Hotel and of the Alta California newspaper, died, he left to Mrs. Mitchell a box, which was said to contain letters from Frank E. Newlands and Justice Field. It was reported that Mrs. Mitchell demanded money from Sharon for the suppression of the letters, which were said to contain damaging references to the Sharon estate. Mrs. Mitchell says she has never offered the letters to any one and that she will show them to no one until the right time comes. She says there is much in the letters of public interest.

SHORT STORIES AND SKETCHES.

Good Things Heard and Seen by Reporters on Their Rounds.

Love of the romantic is so deeply planted in the bosom of the average girl that it makes her amusingly interesting at times. A POST-DISPATCH reporter recently called upon a certain St. Louis lady whose eldest daughter was suspected of having eloped. He was met at the door by a bewitchingly pretty younger sister, who dispelled the elopement theory with evident regret. But the delight with which she found herself so close to a genuine "newspaper romance" was comical to witness.

"I just knew there would be a reporter here!" she said, with a laugh of the most intense girlish satisfaction. "Oh, you ain't going to write anything about it, are you? What are you going to say? It'll just be horrid, won't it? I told sister that the story would get to the St. Louis papers. But there isn't anything in it; oh, no, indeed! There may be later, but there isn't now. Oh, yes, they're in love with each other, desperately! And I did laugh so when the papers said they were an eloping couple from St. Louis!

"But they weren't. I wish they had been. I would have had lots of fun. Mother mine," to a sedate old lady who was smiling at the girl's ecstatic excitement, "how would you like to have an eloping daughter? But you haven't, have you? Oh, dear no, and there isn't any use in their eloping, for you have already given your consent to the marriage. Now, please, please don't say anything about it in the paper. It would be simply awful of you to do so."

TOUGHS TAMED.

It was on the 3:20 owl car of the Benton-Bellefontaine road. The bob-tail vehicle was fairly well filled with passengers. On the back seat on the right-hand side were two young fellows of the tough sort. Each had his jag with him. The jag of one indeed had reached the dimensions of a load. On a seat near the front sat two negroes. They were sober and undemonstrative. The toughs were loud in manner and vile in language.

They bulldozed the driver and refused to pass up their fares. When the hill beyond "Rocky Branch" was reached, after emitting a yell which must have aroused the sleeping inhabitants blocks away, one of the toughs sprang to his feet and announced his ability and readiness to "clean out de car." Timid passengers drew themselves up so as to occupy as little space as possible, and courted complete oblivion. After glaring about a minute or two, seemingly sizing up the people in the car with a view to selecting an easy victim, the wild-eyed roysterer made a dash for the negroes.

But things are not always what they seem.

In an instant there came a transformation as quick as the movements of the stage wizard's hand.

The tough was on his back in the aisle of the car, a negro astride his body, his left hand grasping his throat, while his right was suggestively hidden in his pants pocket, no doubt in close touch with the never-missing razor.

But the "bad man's" companion, where was he?

Curled up in the corner of the car, the other negro standing over him with right hand drawn back to strike, the left tightly clinching his cravat.

The prostrate toughs begged for mercy and promised by all they held sacred to heed the negro's request that they "keep their clam closed and leave decent folks alone" on the remainder of the trip. Then, with a parting shake, they were permitted to resume their seats. At the next turn in the road the colored men left the car, but the two chopfallen youths remained as docile as kittens the rest of the journey. After the departure of the negroes one of the lads was heard to say, sotto voce, to his companion, who had created the scene:

"You played h—ll! Didn't you know dat moke?"

"No," said the other, with evident disgust.

"Why, Petey, that's Nigger Johnson! Your bloomin' lucky you've got a whole jug'lar left in yer neck."

At the tower the pair slunk out of the car. None of the passengers knew Mr. "Nigger" Johnson, but his fare will be cheerfully paid by regular owl car riders any time he likes to go over the road, on condition that he keeps an eye on the hoodlums aboard."

A GAME OF TEN-PINS.

Riches and poverty playing at ten-pins and both having a great time, one at either end of the "alley," was the street picture witnessed by a POST-DISPATCH reporter yesterday. It was in the side yard of a very swell mansion on west Morgan street, and the modern Dives and Lazarus engaged in the game were exceedingly youthful. The "son of the house," a pretty little yellow-haired boy in a dainty summer suit, black silk hose, black slippers and a frilled shirt with a broad embroidered collar, had set up some toy ten-pins, making an alley of the paved walk leading to the side gate. It was at the gate the pins stood, and the gate was half open. When the little fellow made a good roll some of the pins would be knocked out on the sidewalk. This attracted the idle attention of a street gamin outside, a "nigger kid" so black that he clouded the gateway as he peered in, and so ragged that he looked like an unfinished crazy quilt. But he improved the game, nevertheless, for he at once shouldered the responsibility of recovering the pins and "setting 'em up again." That was the extent of his companionship with the aristocratic bowler, but his interest in the sport was as deep as though he had his regular turn at it. Every time the pins went down an African shout of triumph would rise from the grate, and then for a moment the black boy and the white boy would smile at one another with the most delighted expressions. The game was waxing peculiarly exciting when it was suddenly ended by a Mrs. Grundy cry of horror from the house:

"Reginald! Come in here at once! Ain't you ashamed of yourself?"

MICHAEL M'ENNIS' BURGLAR.

Kirkwood people are at present greatly wrought up on the subject of burglars, and Mr. Michael McEnnis, who lives out there, told the following story recently: "The only adventure I ever had with 'em," said he with a shame-faced laugh, "was some time ago, but I'll never forget it. I am easily awakened, especially by a breath on my face, or any stealthy sound. One night, after I had been asleep for some hours, I was suddenly startled wide awake. A quick breath had fanned against my right cheek, as though some one had bent down over me. As I opened my eyes I saw a dark figure crouch back behind the head of the bed. I lay perfectly still for a moment, and then I saw the figure edge out and as suddenly start back again. Then I knew I was in for it. There was evidently a burglar behind the bed. I felt that I would have to tackle him to preserve my own self-respect, but I did not like the prospect. By degrees I slipped my feet out of bed and rested them on the floor to get a purchase. Then, with a mighty spring, I was up and threw my arms around where I knew the burglar was. I caught him at the first pass. It was my coat, which I had hung on the head of the bed, and which was waving in the night breeze. I felt pretty cheap.

"What's the matter?" asked my wife.

"Oh, I just ran into the bed-post," said I, and it was some time before I told her of how I had caught a burglar."

FOLLOWING BRONCO COUNTY'S EXAMPLE.

A member of the Mercantile Club, growing restive at the delay in getting to work upon the new club building, says the action, or rather inaction of the building committee, reminds him of the course of the County Court of Bronco County, Tex., in their attempts at the construction of a jail. When it was finally determined to have a new jail, the court resoluted as follows:

Whereas, In the course of human events it becomes necessary for the people of this county to have a new jail;

Resolved, First, That we build a new jail.

Resolved, Second, That we tear down the old jail and build the new jail out of the materials of the old jail.

Resolved, Third, That we use the old jail till the new jail is finished.

CHAINS HIS UMBRELLA.

The real estate agent, Mr. S. J. Fisher, has a new umbrella. There is nothing strange in that, only it is the eighteenth time he has invested in such a weather shield within the past twelve months and he has become desperate. The last umbrella he bought is one of the finest make. When Mr. Fisher bought the umbrella he also purchased a five-foot chain and two padlocks. He now keeps the umbrella chained in his office and at his home, and when he carries it on the street he has it chained to his arm.

WHO IS THE OWNER

Gitchell's Claim to the Delmar Avenue Strip to Be Investigated.

DAMAGES WILL NOT BE PAID UNTIL THE TITLE IS ESTABLISHED.

The Commissioners Appointed by the Court Make a Report This Morning—Judge Valliant Adjourns Court for the Term—Polish Society Incorporated—Suits for Divorce—Court News.

Judge Valliant's court was in session to-day for the last day of the term. The court handed down one opinion and disposed of all matters pending and then adjourned until the October term. This closes the last branch of the Circuit Court for the summer. The judges wish it distinctly understood, however, that the courts are not closed to the use of the people whenever any matter arises that demands judicial intervention. To this end it has been arranged that one or two judges be always in the city to hear and pass in chambers on any matter requiring their attention. In other words, the courts are open to all intents and purposes but closed until October as far as routine work is concerned.

THE GITCHELL CASE.

The commissioners' report in the matter of assessing damages in the opening of Delmar avenue was filed in Judge Valliant's court to-day. In the case of the disputed lot in which a deed, said to be a forgery, was filed conveying a lot near Taylor avenue from T. Davis to Charles A. Gitchell, the commissioners have worded their report so that the matter will have to be investigated before the damages allowed are paid out by the city. The commissioners are Attorney Ford Smith, William T. Mason and John C. Lullman. The report on this piece of property reads:

"The actual value of the land taken and actual damages sustained by Charles A. Gitchell or Theodore Davis or the owner of a lot of ground situated in city block No. 3759 (here follows a description of the property), we ascertained to be the sum of two thousand and —— dollars.''

Mr. Smith, speaking of the matter, said that the abstract of title furnished the Commissioners by Lewis & Hall, the official investigators of the city, vested the title in Charles A. Gitchell subject to the Davis claim. "The city is responsible,'' said Mr. Smith, "to the owner, whoever he may be, for the amount of damages and will not pay out the money until the matter is determined. Gitchell and Davis will have to come into court and interplead for it.''

This will necessitate a sifting of the whole affair and the matter of the deed said to be forged will be ventilated in court. Mr. Smith said that Gitchell did not appear before the commissioners, and the information upon which the allowance for damages was granted was furnished by Joseph Davis in the interest of his son Theodore, who is said to be the real owner of the lot.

FOR THE DEFENDANT.

In the case of the Evans & Howard Fire Brick Co. against the St. Louis Smelting & Refining Co., Judge Valliant rendered a decision in favor of the defendant. The two companies are located in Cheltenham, and the suit grew out of the right to use a switch. Both companies had been using the switch in common, and under the court's ruling they must continue to use the switch together.

POLISH SOCIETY INCORPORATED.

Judge Valliant granted a pro forma decree of incorporation to-day to the Knights of the Polish Crown, which is Branch 137 of the Polish National Alliance of the United States and North America. The society is a benevolent organization. The Court ordered some modifications in the constitution of the society before granting the decree to make it conform to the laws of the State.

Wish to Be Single Again.

Shortly after the opening hour of the Circuit Clerk's office to-day three suits for divorce were filed. Barbara Naska was the first applicant for freedom. She states in her prayer for divorce from Thomas J. Naska, that they were married in December, 1886, and separated June 10, 1890. She alleges drunkenness and indignities.

Julia Burgin was married, she states, in July, 1883, to Paul Burgin, and they separated, she alleges, in August, 1888. She alleges desertion.

Lisette Peterson and Henry Peterson were married, as alleged, March 16, 1870, and separated in July, 1889. Infidelity, indignities and final desertion are the charges alleged against her husband by Mrs. Peterson.

Joseph Baum & Co.

Sheriff Patrick M. Stead, receiver of the collapsed firm of Joseph Baum & Co. to collect outstanding accounts of the firm, filed a statement to-day of the condition of the firm's affairs. The amount collected by the Sheriff is set forth to be $15,542.46. Notes on hand, $2,021.50; accounts good on books, $4,490.30; accounts doubtful, $1,161.05; accounts bad, $473.70.

A branch of the Baum case occupied the attention of Judge Valliant to-day. It is a motion for an injunction by an attaching creditor of J. Baum & Co. to restrain the Sheriff from paying a confessed claim to Colburn, Fuller & Co. Ex-Congressman Nathan Frank represented J. Baum & Co. and S. B. Jones the plaintiff.

For a Broken Leg.

Wm. Hellweg filed suit to-day against the Simmons Hardware Co., claiming $5,000 damages for personal injuries. He alleges that on Oct. 16, 1890, he fell down an elevator shaft at defendant's place of business, Ninth and Washington avenue, and broke his leg. He alleges that said leg is now shorter than it was. He further alleges that he has lost his wages at the rate of $50 a month and was at an expense of $100 for medical services.

Pat Kane's Suits.

Ten suits were appealed to the Circuit Court to-day from Justice Pat Kane's court. They are:

Henry Bruns against Isar C. Sawyer.

Municipal Electric Lighting & Power Co. against W. F. Hopkins.

Edward Beckman, Jr., against August Bohn.

Florence Gerald against George N. Scott.

Frank McNamara against A. Geisel & Co.

J. C. Goppel against Frank Schmidt and Nicholas Bullier.

Mary Wittelstardter against Ignatz Fuchs and Mrs. M. Fuchs.

Frank Vodawa against John W. Dieterle.

J. H. Peters against St. Louis Agricultural & Mechanical Association.

J. H. Elmore & Co. against Southern Electrical Supply Co.

Admitted to Practice.

Leo Rassieur, a nephew of the well-known lawyer of that name, was admitted to practice in Judge Valliant's court to-day on motion of Mr. Rassieur. Young Mr. Rassieur is a graduate of Washington University Law School.

Thomas Grinsell took out letters in the Probate Court to-day as administrator of the remaining estate of Patrick Grinsell which is valued at $125, and as administrator of the entire estate of John Grinsell which is valued at $450.

Charged With Burglary.

Huston Harveston, James Spriggs, Burt Darden and James Barden, four colored boys, all about 18 years of age, were arrested yesterday by Detectives Danaher and Schappe and Officers Lyon and Green for burglarizing the Mound City Stamp Co.'s store, 1822 Washington avenue, at 6 o'clock last Thursday morning. Articles found on the boys were identified as part of the property stolen and two of the boys confessed to having entered the store. A warrant was sworn out this morning charging them with burglary.

CITY HALL NEWS.

An Employe of the Water Department Seriously Injured—Notes.

An accident occurring last Monday night, which was considered trivial at the time, now promises to result fatally for one of the parties suffering from it. Thomas Stratton, a rodman in the employ of Water Commissioner Holman, is lying at his home, No. 2632 Euclid avenue, unconscious from concussion of the brain and his life is despaired of. He has been unconscious since Monday night, but owing to the fact that after receiving the injury causing his condition on Sunday night he reported at the Water Commissioner's office Monday morning apparently but little injured; asking for a "lay-off" of a few days, his sudden turn for the worse was not learned until yesterday afternoon. The accident by which he received his injuries was caused by a contractor's negligence. Last Sunday night Stratton and two other young men were out driving. They had occasion to cross the new bridge at Duncan avenue and King's highway. Some work had been in progress on the bridge and Contractor Wm. McCulley had left the unfinished portion at night without hanging out lights to warn passengers of the codition of the bridge. Owing to this fact the buggy occupied by Stratton and his two companions on crossing the bridge was precipitated to the road way below. The horse was instantly killed, but it was not thought that any of the men were seriously injured. When Stratton applied at the Water Commissioner's office the following day for leave of absence he showed but little sign of injury. That night, however, he sank into an unconscious condition, and has not since recovered consciousness. The attending physician found that concussion of the brain had resulted from the terrible fall through the bridge. Stratton's two companions are unhurt, beyond a few inevitable scratches and bruises.

The total showing of the appropriations for the work are as follows: Now before the Council—For land, $75,000; High Service Engine House No. 2, $85,000; High Service Engine No. 6, $150,000; building, etc., at Chain of Rocks, $200,000; ordinance just prepared as above, $28,000. Total before the Council, $538,000. Appropriations already passed for pipe-laying, etc., $136,000. Grand total of Water Works extension appropriations, $674,000.

Fireworks in Forest Park.

A stock of fireworks left over from the Fourth of July will probably sparkle and soar and burst in Forest Park during six nights of this month. S. A. Weissenborn, a coal and fireworks dealer of 128 Locust street, applied to the Mayor this morning for a permit to "set off" a lot of fireworks as stated above, and following the issuing of that permit, visited the Park Commissioner's office to get permission to give the exhibition in Forest Park. He explained that the fireworks were a large stock brought over by him from the Glorious Fourth, and that the Forest Park "show" would be paid for, as far as the fireworks were concerned, by the street railway companies whose lines run to the park. The six August nights during which the fireworks display will be given were not specified.

FOSTER IN SPAIN.

THE ABSCONDING COUNSEL OF THE NEW YORK PRODUCE EXCHANGE.

Nearly $200,000 Stolen by the Custodian of the Gratuity Fund—The Estate of Foster's Deceased Millionaire Father to Be Sued.

NEW YORK, Aug. 1.—Alexander E. Orr, the President of the Produce Exchange, posted on Sept. 28, 1889, a formal notice on the notice board, which said in effect that William R. Foster, Jr., the counsel for the Gratuity Fund of the Exchange, was a defaulter to the extent of $168,000. The embezzler was a member of the firm of Foster & Wentworth, attorneys-at-law, whose offices were in the Produce Exchange building. The senior member, Foster, was the counsel for the Gratuity Fund of the Maritime Exchange, too, and of several old commercial bodies. He was not only a shrewd young business man, but a well-read lawyer. A few days before President Orr posted a notice that Foster was an embezzler Managing Clerk Bedell of the law firm of Shipman, Barlow, Laroque & Choate was arrested on a charge of embezzlement by his employers. He succeeded in getting away with nearly $200,000, forging transfers of mortgages and appropriating the amounts paid in. Foster took an unusual interest in this case. He never failed on any occasion to express sympathy with Bedell, and while talking with two members of the Gratuity Fund the day after the arrest said:

"I hope Bedell will get off. He was to blame to a certain extent, but we all know that it is an easy matter to get rid of $100,000 or $200,000 when luck is not running the right way. You can drop a few thousand dollars at a faro table in a very short time, and when you drop a $500 note into the hands of a pretty woman occasionally it all amounts up very rapidly.''

FURNISHED A GOOD CLEW.

Alexander Munn, one of the trustees, heard of this sympathetic excuse for Bedell's wrong-doing, and after consulting with his brother officers, decided to make an investigation of the securities, in the way of mortgages, that Foster, as counsel for the Gratuity Fund, held. Formal notice of intention to audit the books was given. Foster promised to meet the trustees at his office on Wednesday, Sept. 26, but he never turned up, and has not been seen in New York since. A friend of his recognized him on a Long Island Railroad train that evening. He was evidently bound for Bayport, L. I., where he lived like a prince in a house that cost him $30,000. His companion was his "niece,'' a pretty young woman of 20 years. On Sept. 27 the books were gone over and the mortgages were examined by the trustees. They discovered that fourteen out of the forty held by Foster had been cancelled by payment by the mortgagers and the amount, aggregating $168,000, had been stolen. On the following Monday a further defalcation of $25,000 was found. On Jan. 5, counsel for the exchange obtained judgment against young Foster for $56,994. On Jan. 11, his father, William R. Foster, paid $50,000 to the trustees on his son's account, bringing the indebtedness down to $143,000.

IN SPAIN.

In accepting the same the trustees reserved their right to proceed against young Foster at a future time. The father paid in the money on that understanding. While these negotiations were going on young Foster was enjoying himself in the City of Mexico. He afterwards sailed for Spain. He is at present in Madrid. On December 30, 1890, Mr. Foster, who was, by the way, one of the founders of the Produce Exchange, died, leaving an estate valued at $1,000,000. He bequeathed $200,000 worth of property to his scapegrace son. Yesterday the trustees of the Produce Exchange, after consulting with their lawyer, decided to bring suit against the executors for the $143,000 still due and owing by the heir, Mr. Foster, Jr. There was great excitement among the members of the Exchange when the news of this determination leaked out yesterday. The consensus of opinion was that every dollar of the amount would be recovered in time. The greater part of the property left to the son is in New York City, and all of it is in the State.

Two weeks ago a Pinkerton detective was dispatched to Madrid to negotiate with young Foster. Foster's friends here believe that the embezzler will make his stealings good out of his father's estate, notwithstanding the fact that he is safe from criminal prosecution, as there is no extradition treaty between Spain and the United States that covers this offense. If the Pinkerton courier is unsuccessful in his negotiations the civil suit against the executors of Foster, Sr.'s, estate will be pushed to the bitter end.

THEY FEEL INJURED.

The Deibel Boys Much Incensed by Mrs. Crawford's Story.

Louis and William Deibel are still smarting under the injury they think was done them by the story told by Mrs. Emmeline Crawford to the police authorities about the death of August Binder, and have not renounced their intention of getting out a warrant for defamation of character. Louis Deibel says that he can prove that at the time of old man Binder's death he was not in the city, and the connection of his name with it was, he feels, a most unwarrantable outrage. As stated in the POST-DISPATCH on the day the story related by Mrs. Crawford was published, the investigation failed to bring to light any facts which would corroborate her tale, and consequently it was not given any great degree of credit. That old man Binder did not meet with foul play, but died as was supposed at the time of rheumatism of the heart, has now been pretty well established. The Deibel boys' only desire in pushing the matter is to vindicate themselves, but it would seem that there is scarcely any need of that, as the vindication they have already obtained has been rather thorough.

INSPECTION OF IMMIGRANTS.

The Pennsylvania State Board Continued for Some Time Longer.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Aug. 1.—Yesterday should have been the last day under the new immigration law for the Board of Public Charities of this State to act as United States Commissioners of Immigration, the new law providing that the Government should assume control of the inspection of immigrants and prohibiting the making of further contracts with State boards to do the work. Mahlon Dickinson, the President of the State Board, has, however, received telegrams from Commissioner Owen asking the State Board to continue as Commissioners of Immigration until further notice. Why this step has been taken is not known, as the policy pursued in the Massachusetts case was expected to be pursued at this port.

The Spread Eagle came in on time this morning full of freight and people.

The D. H. Pike arrived from Peoria on time and with a splendid trip.

Hunter Ben Jenkins has been appointed General Agent for the Kansas City line. He is certainly the best man for the place as he is more familiar with the Missouri River business than any man in St. Louis.

The departures last night were the Cherokee to Memphis and the Idlewild to Cape Girardeau, both well patronized.

The City of St. Louis is due to-night from New Orleans. She has 800 tons of freight.

The A. L. Mason will be in to leave Tuesday at 4 p. m.

The Future City and barges will leave in the Valley line this evening.

The Mary Morton will be Monday's boat for St. Paul.

The City of Florence left for the Illinois River at noon. She will run as far up as Montesuma.

The State of Kansas will be here to leave next Saturday.

The departures this afternoon will be the Pittsburg, Spread Eagle, City of Sheffield, D. H. Pike, City of Providence, Future City, Bald Eagle, City of Florence, Joe Peters and Benton.

Only three feet reported between Cairo and Evansville and falling.

The excursion boats were well patronized this morning.

Active work has commenced on the dyke at Cumberland Island to turn the Ohio River down in front of Smithland, Ky.

Mr. L. L. Ray, clerk of the City of Vicksburg, is making his last trip as clerk of that steamer, having resigned to take charge of the office of the St. James Hotel.

The Anchor Line has chartered three barges from the Tennessee River Navigation Co. to be used as lighters for their boats out to Cairo. They at one time had nine of these barges chartered, but they now own five good barges themselves.

Should the time come that hulls, cylinders, timbers, wheels and all the heavy parts of a steamboat will be built of aluminum the question of low water navigation will be solved. It is estimated that a boat to carry 1,200 tons on thirty inches of water could be built of this material and would last forever. The price of the material is the only drawback now, but in the future it may be reduced considerably, then aluminum hulls will be in demand.

THE STOCK MARKET.

The Bank Statement Decidedly Better Than Had Been Expected.

By Private Wire to Gaylord, Blessing & Co.

NEW YORK, Aug. 1.—The Commercial Bulletin this morning quotes six months' loans on dividend stocks and high grade bonds at from 4½ to 5 per cent. The only buyers when stocks go down are the bear traders, who break them down themselves, and thus the speculation is exceedingly narrow and unsatisfactory. Nobody is anticipating much activity or improvement to-day, partly because London is closed up this morning before the New York market opens, and besides Monday is a bank holiday in London. A further bearish demonstration against St. Paul is threatened by traders who claim that it is the dearest non-dividend paying stock on the list, and its high price a dangerous menace to the remainder of the market. Banks lost to the Sub-Treasury $3,000,000; gained from the interior, $262,000; net loss to banks, $2,738,000. In the money market the feature remains as heretofore; indeed the market is growing increasingly sensitive, with a more rigid scouting of names and collaterals on application for time contracts, and firmer rates for such loans. Eighty-three roads for the third week of July increased in gross earnings $540,031, equal to 8.65 per cent. The following is the bank statement for this week:

Reserves, decrease	$ 228,975
Loans, decrease	940,600
Specie, decrease	1,728,000
Legals, increase	1,085,800
Deposits, decrease	1,652,900
Circulation, increase	172,000

GOLD IN VIRGINIA.

Discovered on Property Belonging to Ex-Senator Spooner.

RICHMOND, Va., Aug. 1.—It is reported by parties from Montgomery County, N. C., that another rich gold find has been made close to the Euwharrie River in that county. It was discovered that two of the natives had about four quarts of gold nuggets, and that they were in the habit of spending their nights away from home. They were watched, and it was found that they were working a very rich vein on the property bought recently by Senator Spooner of Wisconsin and associates. A telegram has been sent to Mr. Spooner, and the work has been stopped.

Baby's Fearful Suffering from Skin Disease Covering Entire Body Cured by Cuticura.

My baby was taken very sick when he was three months old, and in a few days began breaking out. We employed both of the home doctors and they could do nothing for him. Then we sent for the best doctor in Eaton Rapids, Mich., and he doctored him for two weeks, and he got worse all the time; and then I took him to Jackson, to a doctor who attends especially to skin diseases, and then he got worse than ever. Then I told my husband we had better try CUTICURA REMEDIES any way; did not have any idea they would do any good, but in less than two months from the time we began giving them to him he was entirely well and not a spot on him. His hair began growing right off, and we thought he would always be bald headed. There was not a spot on his whole body, face and head, only his nose and eyes, but what was as raw as beefsteak. So poor there was not anything but bones, and so weak he could raise neither hand nor head.

MARVELOUS RESULTS!

LOSS IN SHRINKAGE OF MEATS.

Very few people know that the shrinkage of meats roasted in a close oven is from 25 to 40 per cent. All meat contains 75 per cent. of water and only 25 per cent. of solid matter, and the loss that is made in the roasting is made in the evaporation of the juice which is the VITAL PART OF MEAT.

Effect of the SOLID OVEN Door.

A TEN pound sirloin, medium or well done, will be reduced to SIX pounds and four ounces of roasted meat, showing a loss of three pounds and twelve ounces of juice. While the loss is 37½ per cent. of the total weight, it shows the enormous loss of FIFTY PER CENT. OF THE JUICE.

Effect of the WIRE GAUZE OVEN Door.

A TEN pound sirloin, medium or well done, will be reduced to NINE pounds and eight ounces of roasted meat, showing a loss of eight ounces of juice. While this loss is 5 per cent. of the total weight, it shows the very small loss of but SEVEN PER CENT. OF JUICE.

Wheat—The market was more notable for dullness than anything else. A holiday in Liverpool and nothing in the London cables to indicate more than the usual quiet and uneventful Saturday markets withdrew foreign markets as an influence at the opening, but later on private cables came in noting 3d decline in cargoes at London and a lower Paris market, and the weather abroad was said to be favorable. These and the day's disappointing seaboard clearances from New York, though a total of 19,000 pkgs flour and 292,000 bu wheat from Atlantic ports, with Prime's favorable report on spring wheat caused a weak feeling, but too much rain in the Northwest and indications of their continuing held a good many sellers off and there was no pressure of offerings on the market. The clearances of flour and wheat from both coasts for week were about the largest of the season and from four Atlantic ports were equivalent to 337,150 bu increase over the week before. New York kept on reporting export buying and by close of the session had the day's business up to 84 loads, but the crowd was disposed to view this alleged export buying with suspicion, just because the clearances did not show much increase. The late public Paris cables showed about 2c per bu decline, but Antwerp firm and English country markets up 3d for the week. Little was done after 12 o'clock, as most of the markets were closed. The close was dull and ¼c below yesterday.

Corn—Speculation was almost at a standstill, and has not been so dull in a long time past. There was next to no outside orders, and nothing fresh developed in the way of news or influences to interest local traders in the market. A demand developed for year that advanced that option ⅛c, but Sept. closed the same as yesterday.

FUTURES—Aug. sold at 53⅛c to 53⅝c and latter asked at close. Sept. opened at 53⅛c, sold off to 52¾c, back to 53⅛c, and subsequently all trades were at 53c. Year sold at 40⅛c to 40⅛c up to 40½c and latter bid at close. Jan. offered at 39⅝c, bid 39⅛c.

SPOT GRADES—Lower. No. 2 declined 1½c to 53⅛c for regular, an exporter taking it at that and E. side salable late at 54⅛c. No. 3 was only ¼c off at 52c regular and 52⅛c E. side, and No. 3 white also ⅛c lower at 57⅛c, both selling readily, but No. 2 white, with speculative support withdrawn, sold 3½c lower at 60c, though wanted at that this side, and for C 60⅛c bid. Sales: No. 2—2 cars in U at 54c, 5 this side at 53⅛c, 1 in M at 53⅛c, 4 regular at 53⅛c. No. 3—6 cars regular at 52c, this bid for more regular and 52⅛c bid E. side. No. 2 white—1 car in M. and 1 this side at 60c. No. 3 white—1 car in U. and 3 this side at 57⅛c. No. 4 white—Offered at 57c.

Oats—The future market was weak and at close had sellers ⅛c below yesterday. All trading was in Sept. at 26½c to 26⅜c, and latter asked at close for both Sept. and Aug.

SPOT GRADES—Order and local feeding demand was small, and No. 2 broke 1½c, but at 27½c a speculator bought regular freely, and for this side 27½c bid. Sales: No. 2—3 cars in M. at 28c, 1 in M. at 27⅛c, 2 E. side at 27⅛c, 2 cars in U. at 27½c, 3 cars and 5,000 bu in U. and 14 cars and 15,000 bu E. side at 27⅛c.

SAMPLES—A decidedly lower market. A few sales of new made at the opening at about yesterday's top. Later the feeling was much easier; the closing sales showing a decline of about ½c from the lowest sales yesterday. There was only a moderate demand, sellers finding it hard work to dispose of their light offerings at the decline. The offerings of old were very small, the few cars selling at good prices on their merits. Sales: Special bin—NEW—1 car No. 2 at 29c, 2 at 28⅛c, 1 do at 28⅛c, 7 do at 28c, 3 No. 3 at 26c. OLD—1 car No. 3 at 29⅛c, 1 No. 3 color at 37c, 1 do at 34⅛c. Sacked lots on orders, 36@38c.

[The Post-Dispatch quotations are for lots in first hands, unless otherwise stated. Orders are filled with choice goods and are charged higher.]

Fruits.

Apples—Received, 612 bbls. The market ruled weak and dull on all save strictly fancy large and well packed fruit, such being in demand by shippers. The receipts, however, run largely of common to fair mixed lots, and as there is no particular demand for this kind of fruit it has to be sold cheap in order to move it. Fancy large varieties range at $1.60@1.75 ℔ bbl, fair to good at $1.25@1.50, common at 90c@$1.10, windfall, wormy and very poor at 50@75c ℔ bbl. Sales: 22 bbls mixed at $1, 158 at $1.34, 15 at $1.35, 10 at $1.40, 1 car at $1.45, 40 bbls at $1.60, 15 fancy wine at $2.

Peaches—Dull and weak, as the quality of the fruit was poor and offerings too heavy for the demand. The home-grown fruit is steadily improving in quality and was in good supply. Consigned lots consisted largely of specked, small and inferior fruit, which met with slow sale. It will not pay to send in any save strictly fancy large fruit to this market from distant points, as the trade for cheap peaches is being amply supplied by home-grown. Arkansas sold mainly at 30@35c per ⅓-bu box, fancy fruit bringing a little more, while specked and held went as low as 10@20c. Texas sold lightly at 50@75c per ⅓-bu box for China clingstone. Illinois at 20@30c per ⅓-bu box. Shipments from near-by points at 35@50c per ½-bu basket and at 50c@$1.00 per bu box. Home-grown at 50c@$1.25 per bu.

Crab Apples—Lower and dull. Choice Siberian and Transcendent sold as low as $1.25 per bbl. Sales in a small way were at 20@25c per ⅓-bu basket. There is very little demand as yet, it being too early in the season for preserving.

Pears—In abundant supply, and while choice varieties were selling fairly well, it was difficult to sell common fruits. Common to choice varieties sold at a range of 25@40c per ⅓-bu box, 30@65c per ½-bu basket and at $3@4 per bbl. Alabama Laconte at 40@50c per ⅓-bu box. Home-grown ranged at 50c to $1.50 per bu, according to quality.

Plums—There was a fair demand and the moderate offerings sold at steady prices. Home-grown choice varieties at $1.10@1.25 per bu. Chickasaw and other common varieties slow at 50@60c. Green gage plums quotable at $2 per bu. Consigned lots wild goose sold at 30@35c per ⅓-bu box and at 75@85c per 6-gallon case. Damson plums at 50c per ⅓-bu box and at $1@1.25 per 6-gallon case. Home-grown sold at $1@1.25 per bu.

Grapes—Slow sales, as most of the offerings are of undesirable quality—unripe, broken bunches and very poor early varieties. Hartford and Ives' seedling sold at 15@25c per 9-lb basket, 25@35c per ⅓-bu box, 50@65c per 4-basket crate and at 60@75c per 6-gal case; choice in 9-lb boxes at 35@40c. Kentucky white at 25@35c per 9-lb basket. Tennessee Delaware at $1.25@1.50 ℔ 6-gal case. Some home-grown received and quality was very good, selling at 5@7c per lb.

California Fruit—Offerings light and sales slow, owing to excessive supply of home fruits. Sound fruits sold as follows:

Bartlett pears, 40-lb box	$2 00@2 25
Fontainbleau grapes, 20-lb crate	1 50@1 75
German prunes, 20-lb crate	1 75@2 00

Berries.

Blackberries—Unchanged. Most of the arrivals in soft order, and there was only a limited demand. Home-grown sold at 40@60c ℔ 3-gallon case.

Whortleberries—Receipts very light, and there was little demand. Slow sale at $1.25@1.50 ℔ 6-gallon case.

Melons.

Watermelons—The offerings were much larger, comprising about 60 cars, and although the demand was very good, there were some left unsold, and the feeling was easier. Shippers were in the market for heavy loaded cars of choice melons and bought quite freely. Missouri ranged at $55@65 per car for small melons and small cars to $70@80 for choice large cars. Jobbing sales from store were at $5@7 per 100 for small to $10@12 for large. Offerings of Georgia light, a few cars are still being sold on account of railroads to cover freight charges. No shipments wanted from Georgia, Alabama or Mississippi. Sales on track were: Missouri—2 cars at $50, 4 at $60, 2 at $65, 2 at $66.50, 2 at $70, 3 at $75, 6 at $80, 1 at $82.50, 2 at $85, 7 cars at $65, $80 and $83, 10 cars at $75 and $80.

Butter and Cheese.

Butter—Receipts, 47,050 lbs. The receipts of dairy were large, and this grade is beginning to show an accumulation. The prices, however, were no lower, but a decline may be looked for in the near future. For the best grades of creamery there was a good demand. Considerable irregular stock, known as thirds, was offering, which does not meet with as ready a sale as the choice and fancy grades. We quote:

CREAMERY.
Fancy	17@18
Firsts	16
Second	15
Third	13@14
DAIRY.
Fancy	15

Eggs.

Poultry and Game.

Live Poultry—Receipts for the week were large, demand at no time, however, being urgent. For the first three days prices were well sustained, later demand fell off, and while receivers were slow to lower their views they were compelled to do so or carry the stock over and sell the following day at a decline. The market showing a decline of ½c to 1c. To-day while the receipts were not large they were more than ample for the demand, and there was considerable carried over stock on the market. Sales of fresh receipts ranged large springs, 11c, small, 10c per lb. Old hens, 8½c; roosters, 4½@5c; old turkeys, 7c; Spring, 17c; spring ducks, 6½@7c ℔ lb. carried stock was moving slowly at a slight decline.

Wool.

Receipts for the past week were 650,603 lbs; previous week, 881,320 lbs; since Jan. 1, 15,365,864 lbs; same time last year, 13,723,994 lb. Shipments for the past week were 655,698 lbs; previous week, 971,792 lbs; since Jan. 1, 11,593,554 lbs; same time last year, 11,870,982 lbs. Receipts to-day, 79,415 lbs; shipments, 53,342. Over 2,000,000 lbs wool have been sold in St. Louis during the past ten days. Still the tone of the market is rather quiet than otherwise. Manufacturers have not paid very satisfactory prices; in fact the bulk of the stock sold showed little or no profit, while the terms secured by the principal buyers were unusually liberal. When it is remembered that prices have been gradually shrinking since the opening of the season it is hardly reasonable to expect a more favorable result, especially as financial matters in the East still continue in an unsatisfactory condition. There seems to be no truth in the impending failure of a Wall street bank for $30,000,000, but the nervous feeling shown at the seaboard and the difficulty among first-class concerns of obtaining time loans indicate that finances are not in as good a shape as could be wished for. Why this should be it is difficult to explain, for the crops of all kinds are abundant, prices, except for cotton, renumerative and the prospects for the fall trade encouraging, yet money matters are in an unsatisfactory condition in all the leading financial centers of the world since the disastrous crashes in South America. Choice territory wool of a fine medium grade comprised the principal part of the stock sold, but the sales embraced nearly all varieties, though the heavy, sandy and brashy descriptions sold only to a limited extent. There has been a rather moderate business done in bright wools of late. A prominent Massachusetts mill, however, has just bought a good-sized line of ¼-blood combing, while the Western and Southern manufacturers have taken a fair amount of miscellaneous grades. With an improvement in finances along with the favorable outlook for crops and the general fall trade, a more satisfactory business would be reasonably expected before long in both wool and woolen branches.

Commercial Notes.

Speculation has become very dull.

Holiday in Liverpool to-day and Monday.

The weather is now favorable across the water.

Too much rain is falling in the Northwest for the spring wheat.

Deliveries in August contracts to-day were about 200,000 bu wheat. No corn or oats.

The amount of wheat loaded into barges for export this week was 445,000 bu.

Estimates on the next visible of wheat are for 1,500,000 to 2,500,000 bu increase. A year ago wheat decreased 56,000 bu and corn 260,000 bu.

Weather cloudy; 80 deg. at 12 o'clock. Local forecast: Showers to-day, clearing to-night, fair Sunday and slightly cooler.

New York bank statement: Decrease, reserves, $228,975; loans, $940,600; specie, $1,728,000; deposits, $1,652,900. Increase, circulation, $172,000; legals, $1,085,800.

Exports of flour and wheat from both coasts for week equivalent to 3,164,000 bu against 2,340,000 bu last week and 2,273,000 bu for corresponding week last year.

Exports from four Atlantic ports for week 211,550 pkgs flour, 1,603,850 bu wheat, 479,300 bu corn, 144,900 bu oats, an increase over week before of 190,300 bu wheat, 48,800 pkgs flour, 40,200 bu oats and 122,200 bu decrease in corn.

Deliveries of home-grown wheat by English farmers for week, 24,114 qrs at 38s 9d per qr, against 23,984 qrs at 38s 9d the week before and 23,457 qrs at 35s 10d for corresponding week last year.

New York reports 34 loads taken late yesterday and 26 loads at outports. Several cable offers sent out were accepted and more offers asked for. The total number of loads sold in New York this week for export is placed at 426, equal to 3,408,000 bu.

In answer to the refusal of a St. Louis milling concern to accept the bids sent for their flour, a London cable was received this forenoon that read: "We advise your immediate acceptance, as buyers can purchase elsewhere at same prices. Harvest has begun and is progressing rapidly. The wheat crop promises to be a large one."

The receipts of wheat in July this year were 3,702,400 bu, against 2,631,508 bu for same month last year. Shipments of wheat by the barges during July were 1,232,000 bu. The total stock in store increased 528,000 bu during July, of which 301,700 bu was in No. 2 red. During July, 1890, the stock increased 1,353,200 bu, No. 2 red showing 1,115,700 bu increase.

Prime's Crop Review says: "Harvest of spring wheat is in progress as far north as Central Minnesota. Corn strong and vigorous but two to three weeks late, and warm weather in August will bring it out all right. Weather perfect for harvesting and threshing. Corn backward and two to three weeks. Some portions too much rain and others not enough. We need warm weather."

The following by private wire to Schreiner, Flack & Co., is the report of Wm. Loudan, a crop expert sent out by a Chicago house. He wires from Omaha: "I returned last evening, having spent the past 15 days in traveling throughout the States of Missouri, Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, Michigan, Iowa and Nebraska for the purpose of investigating as far as possible the probable outturn of the small grain and corn crop of this great grain-growing region. I have made this trip by daylight and, after seeing what I have and from the numerous inquiries made at various points throughout this region, I have arrived at the following conclusion: The yield of winter wheat exceeds all expectations, and should the weather from this out prove favorable for the harvesting of spring wheat and the yield come up to the recent estimate, I expect to see the combined totals of the winter and spring wheat crops of this country to reach 650,000,000 bu. The trade as yet fails to realize the magnitude of this crop, as will be a certainty later on. The same can be said of oats, but not to such a great extent. The oat crop is much better than generally expected and in my judgment will reach a total exceeding 700,000,000 bu. As to corn, when I started out on this trip I was of the impression that the country had not the promise of even an average crop. After making these rounds, however, I am of a very different opinion and believe that with seasonable weather from now until Sept. 15 the country has the promise of one of the largest crops ever raised, not falling under 2,000,000,000 bu. I have arrived at these figures, which will look large to many of the trade, after having made due allowance for damage done by growing crops throughout this and other Western States by excessive rains and, on the other hand, for the lack of moisture in isolated localities in Indiana and one or two other States. In conclusion I may say that the hay crop is a large one throughout nearly the entire country. Pasturage is seldom better than now at this time of year."

Cotton.

The friends of the staple came to the front nobly. While the spot markets show little change, there was a better tone to the future markets all around. The local market was revised some grades showing an advance while others were lower, no sales being made. New York spots were firmer without any advance, futures; opened quiet at an advance of 1 to 3 points, which gradually increased to 4 to 5 points, the close being dull, but firm, within 1 point of the highest prices of the day. New Orleans opened at steady at an advance of 3 to 6 points, gained a point and closed quiet at opening prices.

CHICAGO, Aug. 1., 11 a. m.—The markets were all excessively dull this morning, the result of the English market holiday and the short Saturday session opening the month here. Weakness was the feature in all the pits. Wheat opened unchanged at 89⅞c, sold off to 89⅛c and back to 89⅝c at 11 o'clock. There were no deliveries in wheat or in any of the other pits. Paris was quoted lower; London cargoes were lower; receipts were 70 carloads over the estimates and the weather was good. About 200,000 bu of July corn failed of delivery yesterday because there was not time for it to get around, but it caused no excitement in the pit this morning. There were good rains in the corn belt. Sept. opened a point higher, but quickly lost it, and thereafter remained dull and weak. Provisions were stagnant. Pork fluctuated between $11.40 and $11.45.

Don N. Palmer, Manager; W. A. Ramsey, Secretary. Market closes 2 p. m.

Cattle—All kinds of cattle, natives and Indians, in good butcher meat, are in good demand at steady prices. There are very few good cattle arriving in the native division, most of the receipts being common, which sell slow and low.

Hogs—The market was steady to-day and somewhat favorably inclined for next week. Good to choice packers sold at $5.30 to $5.70; selected butchers, $5.65; fair to good, $4.75 to $5.25; common from $3.50 to $4.50.

Sheep—The Eastern movement is curtailed as a consequence of unsatisfactory prices. Therefore the trade is just now almost local in its volume. Prices are lower than they were last week, but steady this week, and good to best medium weight butcher muttons will not sell for anything more than $4 to $4.50; lambs sell from $4 to $4.75; selects, $5; stockers, stock ewes and stock wethers, $3.25 to $3.75. The trade about absorbed the receipts, which were not large. More stock ewes and wethers would have found buyers if they had been here.

Chicago Market Letter.

Private wire to J. P. Grier:

CHICAGO, Aug. 1.—The trading in wheat has been light throughout the session. Dec. opened at 89⅝c, sold as low as 89⅛@⅜c, closed at 89⅝c. The receipts continue heavy and the demand only moderate. We do not see that anything will occur in the near future to increase the speculation and without it we expect a dragging market and lower prices. European crops are not yet secured, but unless weather is wet to delay the harvest, there will be no advance in values.

Corn was fairly active. The fluctuations have been from 56⅝c to 57⅛c, at which it closed. Some reports of damage by frost in Indiana, but the reports from other States are good.

Oats quiet and without fluctuation; closes at 27⅛c.

Provisions unchanged. Steady at yesterday's quotations.

Wall Street.

NEW YORK, Aug. 1, 11 a. m.—The stock market this morning opened firm to strong at advances over last night's figures of from ⅛ to ½ per cent. The activity had disappeared from the dealings, however, and there was a moderate degree of an imitation in about half dozen stocks. Some pressure to sell from local sources appeared in the early dealings, and fractional losses extending to ½ per cent were scored under the lead of St. Paul, while the feature of the trading was the rapid and irregular fluctuations in Sugar, which after opening down ⅛ at 75⅞, rose to 76⅝, touching that point twice before settling down to within a fraction of the opening price. The general list afterward rallied to about the level of first prices, when the most intense dullness overspread the list and no further feature was developed. At 11 o'clock the market was very dull and steady at or near the opening figures.

Noon—Money closed at 2 per cent. Bar silver, 100⅛. In the stock market after 1 o'clock there was an attempt to discount a favorable bank statement and the buying meeting with no resistance a sharp upward movement resulted in all the active shares. At the top figures Sugar was up 1⅛ from its lowest price, Chicago Gas 1⅛, Burlington 1⅛, St. Paul 1⅛, Lackawanna, Union Pacific and Rock Island each 1 per cent and others fractions. The bank statement was not so encouraging as expected, however, and dullness followed, the market closing dull but firm near the best prices of the day.

BOSTON, Mass., Aug. 1.—Mexican 4s, 69; do stock, 17½ bid; Allouez, 1¾; Atlantic, 12½; Montana, 41½; Butte, 14; Centennial, 13; Franklin, 14½; Huron, 75; Kearsarge, 10½; Osceola, 35; Santa Fe, 50.

MUNICIPAL ASSEMBLY.

Councilman Arnstein Introduces an Anti-Pool Bill—The House.

President Walbridge and Mr. Meier were absent, and Vice-President Sloan presided at last night's meeting of the Council. The special committee appointed to investigate the Building Commissioner's Office reported through Chairman Cole that it had decided to withhold its report until Aug. 10, at the request of Mr. Wehner.

Mr. Arnstein, as was expected, introduced a bill for the suppression of bookmaking and pool selling within the city limits.

Mr. James of the joint committee on the eight-hour investigation submitted a report recommending, among other things, that city contracts in the future should be so drawn as to prohibit the contractors from working their men over eight hours a day.

The bills providing for the appropriation of $237,000 for the purchase of pumping engines for the Water Works were passed.

No action was taken on any of the Mayor's nominations.

HOUSE OF DELEGATES.

The House held a brief session with Speaker pro tem. Townsend in the chair. A lot of routine business was transacted in the shape of passing bills authorizing street and alley improvements. The bill changing the name of Biddle street to Gamble street was unfavorably reported and will be acted upon at the next meeting.

MOSAIC MARBLE.

Testimony as to How It Should Be Classed for Import Duty.

Referee General Appraiser Shurtliff continued the hearing in the case of the mosaic marble importations to-day, and testimony of Experts Pickel, Foy and Annan was introduced. The ruling under the old law permitted such importations to come in under a specific duty of $1.10 per cubic foot, while the customs authorities claim that under the new law the importations must pay 50 per cent ad valorem as manufactured marble. It is claimed that the admission of Italian mosaic squares will paralyze the infant industry just coming into prominence in this country.

Serious Runaway Accident.

While Charles G. Bruno, book-keeper for the F. W. Mott Real Estate Co., was driving south on Broadway, near Quincy street, about 6 o'clock last night, his horse became frightened at a locomotive and ran away. At the intersection of Blow street the animal collided with a huckster wagon and Mr. Bruno was thrown violently to the ground.

Dr. Voelkers examined him and found two ribs on the right side broken and a large scalp wound on his forehead.

THE BOSTONS HERE.

Manager Irwin's Boys Open With the Browns To-Day.

PITCHER CLARK GRIFFITH SIGNED BY THE BEAN-EATERS.

All the League Clubs Are Losing Money and Want to Reduce Salaries, the Boston Manager States—Horse Racing on Various Tracks—Pugilism, Athletics and Sporting News in General.

The Boston American Association Club arrived here this morning in charge of Manager Arthur Irwin. They are quartered at the Lindell Hotel, where Mr. Irwin was seen this morning by a POST-DISPATCH reporter.

"I suppose you are confident of winning the pennant?" the reporter suggested inquiringly.

"We are not making any calculations on winning the pennant," was Mr. Irwin's reply. "We are simply trying to play ball the best we know how and to play and win as many games as we can out of our schedule of 140. Clubs which are after the pennant, however, will have to play ball pretty well to make a higher percentage than we will have. The desire of the public is not to have a club win the pennant, but to play good ball for them all the time, and that is what we are trying to do. We have been somewhat unfortunate in having had Hardie Richardson laid up for ten weeks, and we have had Joyce laid up nearly five weeks. Richardson is still somewhat stiff and a trifle timid as a man naturally is who has been laid up so long with a broken leg. We are all somewhat fatigued to-day after our long journey, and I do not think Richardson will go in the game this afternoon. He will play to-morrow, however as he will then be rested up. Our club would miss the batting and services of two such men as Richardson and Joyce. With them in uniform I think we can beat any club that ever stepped upon a diamond."

"What is there in this talk of a compromise between the National League and American Association?"

"Absolutely nothing. It is the League that is doing all the talking. They are anxious to compromise. Every time we have been at Cincinnati Brush has approached us on the subject and he has offered to repay us for every dollar we have expended in Cincinnati, including the construction of our base ball park, and he offered to fit up and give us free a park at Indianapolis. This park he has since fitted up. The Association would not accept his offer. All the League clubs are losing money. The Boston League team alleges that it lost $87,000 last season all told. This was the money dropped in keeping the club going, the money expended in purchasing the release of players and in paying men like Clarkson and Bennett to sign three-year contracts with them, and helping support losing clubs like the New Yorks. This year the Boston team is again losing heavily and they are very sore. The League wants a national agreement so they can cut down the high salaries at present paid their players. While a national agreement is a good thing in its way when it operates equally, the Association will never consent to one again, as the League would want to dictate matters again as they have in the past."

Jacob C. Morse of the Boston Herald, who has seen every game the Boston Association team has played since its organization at the outset of last season as a Players' League Club, is with the party nine, and thinks it the greatest base ball organization in existence. He says the Browns are a fine club, but thinks the Bostons will beat them out for the pennant.

Manager Irwin this morning signed Clark Griffiths, the pitcher recently released by the St. Louis club. With Haddock, Buffinton, Fitzgerald and Darby O'Brien already on their pay-roll, the Bean-Eaters now have five pitchers and one of them is apt to be let go.

TO-MORROW'S GAME.

The Champion Bostons are here and to-morrow they will play the St. Louis Browns the second championship game of the present series at Sportsman's Park.

With a pleasant day there will unquestionably be the biggest crowd seen at Sportsman's Park in years. The interest in this series is very great, and if the Browns can break even with the Bostons they will still have a good show for the pennant. The Association race is becoming more interesting as the season advances, and now that the Browns are at home their work will be pretty closely watched. If Buffinton pitches to-day O'Brien will officiate to-morrow, and vice versa. The Browns' new pitcher, Easton, will probably make his first appearance to-morrow. Play will be called 3:30.

HITS INSIDE THE DIAMOND.

The great Bostons to-morrow.

The Athletics will be here next Wednesday.

The old local favorite, McGeachy, is playing good ball for Boston. He is a hard hitter and clever outfielder.

Hardie Richardson will probably accompany Capt. Comiskey this winter on his contemplated trip to California.

If it does not rain to-morrow, there will be will be the biggest crowd of the season to see the Bostons and Browns at Sportsman's Park. The Bostons are the attraction in St. Louis.

Capt. Comiskey says he likes Easton's style of pitching, and thinks he will be especially strong against a heavy batting team, as he has a drop ball, that is full of deception. Easton will probably pitch against the Bostons this trip.

ATHLETICS.

The New York Tribune publishes the following sketch of an athletic official who is well known in St. Louis: Frederick William Janssen, Pooh Bah of the Staten Island Athletic Club, is known wherever amateur athletics is talked of in America. Janssen began his physical education with the practice of base ball in the old Alpha nine that flourished on Staten Island in 1871, gaining a lithe, robust frame before the disbandment of the club in 1878, to help immensely in his athletic career, which began with the organization of the Staten Island Athletic Club. Janssen hasn't been active in athletics as a performer since 1882, but during these nine years he has been prominent in the management of the club of which he is such a prominent member. He has held the offices of treasurer two years, captain one year and chairman of the athletic department three years. He played prominently in the Staten Island Athletic Club's lacrosse team in 1879, '80 and '81. Besides holding in this day five hurdle records, Janssen was a rattling oarsman, formerly pulling double with W. J. U. Roberts. Another effort of which Janssen has reason to be proud is the organization of the Charleston Blues, an amateur company which appeared at many different military entertainments between 1882 and 1889, and he personally arranged and directed the intricate drill and evolutions for which this body became well known. Many of the ideas incidental to the getting up of the Labor Day sporting festivals which the Staten Island Athletic Club has run off so successfully the last few years are the result of his ingenuity and enterprise.

Mr. Janssen has also pushed forward the cause of athletics with the pen, being the author or two compilations which were received with great interest. His latest work is a history of amateur athletics in America, showing the progress made since 1829. This work is published with the authorization of the American Athletic Union and the National Association of Amateur Oarsmen.

THE PICTURE GALLERY.

JOHN U. KNOX, CAPTAIN OF THE THREE V'S OF NEW FLORENCE, MO.

The POST-DISPATCH presents to-day a cut of John U. Knox, the level-headed captain of the Three V's at New Florence, Mo., which is one of the best amateur clubs to be found outside of the cities. Mr. Knox is himself a player of the best type and holds the position of first-baseman for his club. He displays excellent headwork in a game. The Three Vs is abreviated from the Latin phrase "Veni, vidi, vici"—"I came, I saw, I conquered." They have been singularly successful, and have not recorded a defeat this season. Their last game was played with the Warrenton "Mystics" on the 18th inst. Knox is as proud of his team as a boy of his first pantaloons.

THE TURF.

At this time of the year there is an endless amount of talk about this or that colt or filly that is going out to reduce an age or record, says the Sporting World. The world is expected to stand still while the youngster rustles through space against the watch, but at the same time no one seems to care a red about the appearance of the wear and tear nag that will win a little of the money. It is all what such and such a farm will do in the record-breaking line and when their representatives hit a track for a race, an unknown quantity whose praises were never rung in the columns of the press, bowls over the party. Record-breaking is profitable business for stock farms, but the production of race horses will wear longer, as they are not called upon to go the dizzy clip that kills sooner or later.

DON'T RAISE SCRUB HORSES.

The trotting horse is not confined to the track, but is useful in every land, the Chicago Sportsman remarks. On the road he is great; on the farm he does the work of a mule, plowing, harrowing and hauling heavy loads. In cities he pulls butcher carts, milk wagons, buggies, carriages, omnibuses and express wagons, and is found indispensable in many other places where nothing but fast harness horses can be used. Horses that make trotting race horses are about one in a hundred, and the man who breeds a common mare to a trotting-bred horse and fails to get a 2:20 performer need not be disappointed, but has some assurance of a nice roadster that will be worth three colts from a scrub horse. What could a good roadster be sold for? It would be safe to say $300, while a scrub would sell for $100, and perhaps a good deal less, and cost the same to raise.

RACING AT SOUTH SIDE PARK.

Sam May, who was refused the privilege of bookmaking at the South Side Park, went on the block yesterday for George Grassmuck, the politician and cock-fighter, and was arrested for trespass. Grassmuck bailed out May, and the latter returned and was again ejected. Grassmuck abused the association in such a manner that he will probably be requested to remove his horses from the track. May is the man who took out the warrant against the "Welching" bookmakers for the association and was whipped by ex-Fireman Sweeney for doing so.

False Economy

Is practised by many people who buy inferior articles of food because cheaper than standard goods. Surely infants are entitled to the best food obtainable. It is a fact that the Gail Borden "Eagle" Brand Condensed Milk is the best infant food. Your grocer and druggist keep it.

"Castoria is the best remedy for children of which I am acquainted. I hope the day is not far distant when mothers will consider the real interest of their children, and use Castoria instead of the various quack nostrums which are destroying their loved ones, by forcing opium, morphine, soothing syrup and other hurtful agents down their throats, thereby sending them to premature graves."

To Dispel a Mother's Dream

Takes but little time and costs but little money. One of our Cheviot, Cassimere or Worsted Knee Pant Suits at $3.95 will certainly eventually gladden the heart of both mother and son, even though the change from kilts to pants may momentarily cause a pang of regret to linger in the fond mother's brain. The sizes of these excellent suits are from 5 to 14 years. They are worth a good deal more than the present price, else we would not advertise them so persistently—$5, $6 and $6.50 is what they are actually worth. See the Cocheco Flannel Waists we are selling at $1.65.

Store open until 10 o'clock to-night.

THE ONLY McNICHOLS.

When our pulses are beating and throbbing,
And we feel the swift flow of hot blood,
We long for the sighing and sobbing
Of winds and the calm river's flood.
When night falls we dream of a fountain,
The swirl of the quiet mill's race,
We dream of the high, shady mountain,
With lilies asleep at its base!

We long to be free—more's the pity—
From work and the heat of the day,
From life in the hot, busy city,
We want to fly far, far away.
But where is the man who can gather
The sweets of this world in one clutch,
No matter what fate or what weather,
We look for and hope for too much.

Then give me the peace and the slumber,
An hour when labor is done,
With nothing my heart to encumber,
And peace with the set of the sun.
'Tis not alone money you're craving,
'Neath the vault of your life and its dome,
For what are we toiling and saving
But love and the comforts of home?

McNichols the man who can aid you
To reach the one hope of your life,
You'll admit in the end he has made you,
And helped you to shelter your wife.
You'll hear of it oft from your neighbor,
His method from man unto man,
He takes a small sum from your labor,
Makes your home on the installment plan.

What on earth could be easier? We are often burdened with debt; trying to get out, but can't. Now, in this method all is simple. You pay something each week for a beautiful home and all its comforts. You can learn it all from
